3 Are Injured As Autos Ram Near Lisbon

All Are Taken To Salem Hospital In Route 154 Mishap

Three were injured in a near head-on collision of two cars at 12:05 a.m. today on Route 154, about four miles east of Lisbon, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

The drivers were identified as William Walter Artrip, 38, of Rogers R.D. 1 and Janice Elaine Wylie, 21, of Hanoverton R.D. 1.

Officers said Artrip was northbound when he went left of center after rounding a curve and hit the oncoming Wylie vehicle. Both cars were demolished.

The Wylie woman suffered sprained wrists and a bruised hip. A passenger in her car, Susan Jenkins, 17, of Eel St., Rogers, suffered a bruised left hand.

All were taken to Salem City Hospital.

A 1952 sedan driven by William W. Edgell, 43, of R.D. 2 and a 1963 compact operated by Earl R. Thompson, 38, also of R.D. 2 collided on Route 170 at Calcutta, about a mile north of Route 30, Friday afternoon at 3:05.

Start Planned Next Week On Bridge Lanes

Beaver County commissioners have announced that work will begin on the two 12-foot concrete approach lanes on the south side of the Midland-Shippingport Bridge Monday at 7 a. m. and that one - lane traffic will be maintained during the construction period.

The agreement to maintain traffic during the construction was worked out between J. Paul Ambler, district engineer for the Pennsylvania Highway Department, and Commissioners Eli Corak, James Ross and Arthur Pettibon. Corak said the agreement was sought so "the least amount of inconvenience would be caused to those who live on the south side of the bridge and work in Midland."

Minor delays may occur while heavy trucks move to and from the pouring areas, he said. The controlled traffic will be in effect on a 24-hour-a-day basis until the project is finished. Corak said the project may take longer by leaving the bridge open, but said he "thought this method would be more satisfactory to the residents of the area."

Plan Being Drafted

Dominican Fund Control OAS Aim

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, (AP) — The Organization of American States, hopeful of an imminent political settlement of the Dominican civil war, is drafting a plan to take temporary control of the nation's economy.

Reliable OAS and U.S. sources said the target date for the plan is at the end of this month. By that time the OAS hopes the Dominican rebels and the civilian-military junta will have accepted a peace formula the organization proposed Friday.

The OAS called on the warring factions to end the fighting, agree to the formation of a provisional government and allow OAS-supervised elections in six to nine months.

Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker of the United States, a member of a three-man OAS peacemaking team, said he was "encouraged by the reception" of the proposal by both sides. Formal replies from the rebels and junta are expected in two or three days, other OAS sources said.

According to the economic plan now in outline form, the provisional government would surrender all its revenue to the OAS, which then would make all budget expenditures until the country gets back on its feet.

Because Dominican revenues are inadequate to cover expenditures, the United States would pump at least $10 million a month into the country through the OAS, the sources said.

An OAS official said, "The result would be decisive control of the Dominican economic system. Normally, the government is the nation's biggest employer and biggest spender."

Even if the political stalemate were to continue, the sources said, the plan might be put into effect with the junta, which at least nominally controls the economy outside of the rebel stronghold in a corner of Santo Domingo.

"What we're really trying to do is keep the economy running on a permanent basis, regardless of who is running the government," an OAS official said.

Before the rebellion began April 24, government revenue totaled $12 million to $16 million a month, compared with average outlays of $16 million to $17 million monthly.

The junta of Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera now collects only an estimated $4 million to $5 million monthly, mostly in import-export duties. Imbert's opponents have accused him of using this money to maintain political support for his junta. Public services and government projects, meanwhile, are shot down.

Congressional Controversy

Aid Dispute Slows Probe Into Dominican Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional controversy over foreign aid legislation has forced delay of a Senate Foreign Relations Committee inquiry into the Dominican conflict.

The Dominican hearings may be discussed at a closed meeting Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has set for Monday, but other members said they are not likely to get under way until after the July 4 recess.

The committee also will be asked to consider Monday a proposal by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd., D-Conn., that it send a bipartisan subcommittee to South Viet Nam for an on-the-spot study of the situation there.

This proposal has drawn mixed reaction from the committee as has another by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., that the committee conduct South Vietnamese and Dominican inquiries at the same time, dividing into subcommittees for that purpose.

Senate and House conferees met for the first time Friday to discuss major differences in Senate and House foreign aid bills, but put off further conferences until Tuesday after their two-hour meeting failed to make any progress.

The principal points in controversy center around the Senate's two-year, $3.2-billion-a-year measure calling for a cut-off of foreign aid in its present form June 30, 1967.

House conferees are fighting for their one-year, $3.37-billion version with no provision for termination. A compromise bill may require many prolonged meetings. In view of that, Fulbright decided to postpone earlier plans to start the Dominican hearing next week.

Still pending before the committee is the controversial consular treaty with Moscow.

This treaty was pigeonholed last year in the fact of opposition from the Senate-House Republican leadership.

Under it, the United States would permit the opening of Soviet consular offices in cities like New York, San Francisco and Chicago in exchange for permission to open U.S. consular offices in similar cities within the Soviet Union.

Republican leaders voiced vigorous opposition last year to ratification of this agreement. They argued its grant of diplomatic immunity to consular employes would free them to engage in espionage.

Flood Deaths Mount To 17; New Areas Hit

Damage Spreading To Rocky Mountain States, Southwest

DENVER (AP) — With Colorado still bearing most of the brunt, muddy cloudburst - fed rivers and streams spread damage through vast portions of the Rocky Mountain States and part of the Southwest today.

Seventeen persons throughout the ravaged area are known to have died in the flooding or for reasons directly attributable to floods. Unconfirmed reports in Colorado indicate that at least 11 other persons are missing in flooded parts of the state.

One such report said five members of the Manual Guajardo family were swept away when waters overturned their car near Lamar. Gujardo, 36, reportedly the sole survivor, is a beet worker.

At La Junta, in the southeast part of Colorado, where the Arkansas River has made a virtual lake of the town for the past two days, 1,500 persons have received emergency vaccinations.

Officials in Las Animas, which lies in the conflux of the Arkansas and the Purgatoire rivers, are prepared for the worst. The Arkansas has already inundated Pueblo, Lamar and Holly and the Purgatoire was reported to be moving at 50-70 second - feet toward the juncture.

(A second-foot is a cubic foot of water moving past a given point in one second.)

Gov. John A. Love issued an appeal from Lamar to all persons in the Arkansas Valley to evacuate the lowlands. State civil defense officials said two emergency air deliveries dropped food for some 1,000 persons in shelters at Lamar.

Two hundred miles to the north, the South Platte River's flood, which had swirled through Denver 48 hours earlier, poured into Sterling, near the northeast corner of the state, early today, flooding the eastern part of town and knocking out all power.

Just across the state line in Sidney, some 60 miles from Sterling, the Nebraska State Patrol reported it did not expect serious flooding.

Ky Assumes South Viet Leadership

Heads 8th Regime In 20 Months As He Replaces Quat

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, flamboyant air force commander, became South Viet Nam's youngest premier today, heading the eighth government in 20 months.

Ky, 34, took over from Phan Huy Quat, who quit last week after a dispute with Chief of State Phan Khac Suu and opposition from religious elements. Suu also resigned.

The armed forces assumed all power in the new government although 14 of the 16 Cabinet posts are held by civilians.

The highest authority is the Congress of the Armed Forces of Viet Nam, made up of some 20 top military officers. Under it is a 10-man military directory, which in turn is over an executive committee of generals. Ky is chairman of the executive committee.

The directory is headed by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, whose job corresponds to that of chief of state.

The new government is the eighth in Saigon since the overthrow and assassination of President Ngo Dinh Diem on Nov. 1, 1963.

Ky has been air force commander since a month after the coup against Diem.

He has frequently flown missions against the Communists and participated in one of the first raids against North Viet Nam in February.

In his acceptance speech at the Dien Hong conference hall on the banks of the Saigon River, Ky said:

"I am just a pilot. As a pilot I don't like politics. But the generals have picked me because they have confidence in me. They picked me more to risk my life than as an honor."

Ky has sowed controversy among Vietnamese political factions and high U.S. officials had urged the new military regime against naming him premier.

Close American military associates reportedly are fond of him.

Tuesday Set For Slash On Excise Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Friday initial benefits of the $4.6 billion excise tax cut by Congress will take effect Tuesday.

That made it clear the signing is planned for Monday since the law takes effect a day after signing, but his news release in its original form did not say so directly. Later the White House said a sentence fixing Monday as the date simply had been inadvertently left out.

Johnson isued a statement hailing congressional action on the Administration proposed tax cut and said:

"I believe producers and retailers will match the responsible conduct of the Congress with equal responsibility by passing these reductions along to consumers. This will bring us lower prices, more purchasing power and new jobs."

Revolutionary Council Set Up

Ben Bella Ousted In Algerian Coup; Troops In Power

ALGIERS (AP) — President Ahmed Ben Bella was overthrown in a predawn coup today and will "meet the fate of all despots," radio Algiers announced.

A revolutionary council headed by Col. Houari Boumedienne, chief of the armed forces, took over all power, charging Ben Bella with treason and abuse of personal power.

Boumedienne, 40, an officer who had been associated with Ben Bella since the early days of Algeria's fight for independence, was said to have been trained either in Peking or Moscow. But one responsible source said Boumedienne "is definitely not pro-Chinese."

(Diplomatic sources in Madrid said they had been informed the coup was accomplished by rightists within the Algerian armed forces. But Boumedienne is said to be an admirer of Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba and visited Havana last July.)

Presumably Ben Bella, 48, had been arrested.

A statement signed by Boumedienne and read over the radio said all power had been taken from Ben Bella. It added that Algeria would continue to honor all previous agreements and commitments with other countries.

Ben Bella had strongly oriented Algeria toward the Communist bloc and last year received the title of hero of the Soviet Union. He also recognized Red China.

Algeria has been in deep economic trouble since the French granted independence in 1962 after a long and bloody insurrection. Unemployment is high, many persons living on U.S.-supplied surplus foods.

Former French farms were nationalized, but this failed to increase the production of food. Recently there were increasing complaints of one-man rule but Ben Bella seemed firmly in command.

Algerians on their way to work passed by squads of Algerian infantry posted before public buildings.

In Washington, the State Department said it had no comment on the developments.

Jungle May Hide Evidence

Pentagon Studies B52 Raid Effects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon looked for further signs today of just how effective the massive B52 raid was in bombing South Viet Nam.

The heavy Asian jungle, which provides a dense camouflage for the Communist Viet Cong, may hide the evidence for days. An Associated Press reporter, after an inspection of the area, wrote that the jungle "apparently had swallowed up the bombs," and the only signs visible from the air were a few plumes of smoke.

The Defense Department, however, said Friday the raid on a Viet Cong concentration 25 miles north of Saigon showed one prominent plus sign: the Red forces have "no sanctuary from effective air attack during the monsoon season."

This particular area, infested with caves and rugged terrain, has been heretofore virtually immune from ground invasion by South Vietnamese troops.

On the minus side, two $8-million Strategic Air Command B52 jets were lost—before getting to the combat scene — apparently in an air refueling operation during a storm. At least one U.S. airman died, seven others were missing.

Defense Department sources said the major objective in bringing the bombers 2,000 miles from their Guam base to make the strike was to counter a new Viet Cong tactic.

Plans To Help Americans

U.S. To Act Against Cuba On Seizure Of Property

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soon after taking control of Cuba, Fidel Castro began confiscating the property of American citizens and American corporations.

By the end of 1963, his fifth year in power, his Marxist government had seized $1.12 billion to $1.37 billion worth of U.S. property, according to State Department estimates.

Next week a congressional committee is expected to take a step toward helping Americans register their claims against the Cuban government.

There are no diplomatic relations between the United States and Havana, and there apparently is no way of recovering the money now.

But the U.S. government — and Rep. Dante Fascell, a Democrat whose Miami district is crammed with refugees from the island — is looking toward that day.

Fascell has introduced a bill to provide for the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission to put down in black and white American claims against Cuba.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee, of which he is a member, is expected to approve the measure, perhaps Tuesday, and start it on its way through Congress.

Fascell got the legislative ball rolling last year, but the Senate added a provision for the sale of frozen Cuban government assets to pay the commission's way.

Crash Fatal To Resident Of Belmont

John Tylus, Driver Of Big Truck, May Have Fallen Asleep

A 51-year-old Martins Ferry truck driver was killed instantly early this morning when the tractor - trailer rig he was driving went out of control and turned over three miles east of Florence, Pa., on Route 22.

The Carnegie Barracks of the Pennsylvania state police, which investigated, said John W. Tylus of Martins Ferry R.D. 1 apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his rig.

The big truck, which was traveling west, left the road, struck a second tractor-trailer which was parked by the side of the road and then continued out of control, and over an embankment, where it overturned.

Tylus, who was pinned in his truck for a short time, died of internal chest injuries, a fractured skull, fractured hand and broken leg.

The truck, owned by the Nickles Bakery of Martins Ferry, was valued at $7,500 and was termed a total loss.

Damage to the parked rig, driven by Lloyd Smith of Morgan, Pa., was estimated at only $25.

Cloud Seeks Faster Action On Strip Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The embattled strip mine bill which passed the Ohio Senate June 3 apparently will get a push toward final legislative action from House Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan).

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Edmund Sargus (D-Belmont) has been languishing for two weeks in the House Mines and Conservation Committee headed by Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel (R-Columbiana).

After hearing the bill for the first time last week, Wetzel announced plans to hold another hearing next Thursday and then toss it into a subcommittee for another week or two of deliberation.

Cloud, anxious to clean up unfinished House business, is hauling out his spurs.

Learning of Wetzel's plans, Cloud remarked: "Aw, horseradish! I want to get that thing moving."

With that, he strode off in search of Wetzel to inform him the clock is running out.

Obviously feeling less than august after a tiring round of debate, one senator retorted hoarsely: "To get the hell out of here by August!"

By the end of 1963, his fifth year in power, his Marxist government had seized $1.12 billion to $1.37 billion worth of U.S. property, according to State Department estimates.

Next week a congressional committee is expected to take a step toward helping Americans register their claims against the Cuban government.

There are no diplomatic relations between the United States and Havana, and there apparently is no way of recovering the money now.

But the U.S. government — and Rep. Dante Fascell, a Democrat whose Miami district is crammed with refugees from the island — is looking toward that day.

Fascell has introduced a bill to provide for the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission to put down in black and white American claims against Cuba.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee, of which he is a member, is expected to approve the measure, perhaps Tuesday, and start it on its way through Congress.

Fascell got the legislative ball rolling last year, but the Senate added a provision for the sale of frozen Cuban government assets to pay the commission's way.

Crash Fatal To Resident Of Belmont

John Tylus, Driver Of Big Truck, May Have Fallen Asleep

A 51-year-old Martins Ferry truck driver was killed instantly early this morning when the tractor - trailer rig he was driving went out of control and turned over three miles east of Florence, Pa., on Route 22.

The Carnegie Barracks of the Pennsylvania state police, which investigated, said John W. Tylus of Martins Ferry R.D. 1 apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his rig.

The big truck, which was traveling west, left the road, struck a second tractor-trailer which was parked by the side of the road and then continued out of control, and over an embankment, where it overturned.

Tylus, who was pinned in his truck for a short time, died of internal chest injuries, a fractured skull, fractured hand and broken leg.

The truck, owned by the Nickles Bakery of Martins Ferry, was valued at $7,500 and was termed a total loss.

Damage to the parked rig, driven by Lloyd Smith of Morgan, Pa., was estimated at only $25.

Cloud Seeks Faster Action On Strip Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The embattled strip mine bill which passed the Ohio Senate June 3 apparently will get a push toward final legislative action from House Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan).

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Edmund Sargus (D-Belmont) has been languishing for two weeks in the House Mines and Conservation Committee headed by Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel (R-Columbiana).

After hearing the bill for the first time last week, Wetzel announced plans to hold another hearing next Thursday and then toss it into a subcommittee for another week or two of deliberation.

Cloud, anxious to clean up unfinished House business, is hauling out his spurs.

Learning of Wetzel's plans, Cloud remarked: "Aw, horseradish! I want to get that thing moving."

With that, he strode off in search of Wetzel to inform him the clock is running out.

Timely Retort!

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (Special) — "What is the further pleasure of this august body?" asked Lt. Gov. John Brown in the parliamentary query which prefaces a motion for adjournment of the Ohio Senate each day.

Obviously feeling less than august after a tiring round of debate, one senator retorted hoarsely: "To get the hell out of here by August!"

Insects AND YOUR HEALTH

TERMITES

Did you know that termites roamed the earth as many as 250 million years ago? They cause an estimated 250 million dollars damage yearly . . . more than fire or storms or any other hazards. They have been known to eat through as much as 5 inches of concrete. According to a recent news release from the NATIONAL PEST CONTROL ASSOCIATION, the termite is the most persistent, most highly organized and most destructive insect pest in most of these United States, but the NPCA notes, termite damage can be prevented. Modern scientific methods can keep termites out of buildings and kill those that have gotten in.

SIMPLE PROOF

Anyone who has left a stake in the ground for a few months and then pulled it out to see how it has been furrowed will realize how well the termite scouts for food supplies. If, as they travel, they run up against a house foundation, they search out any possible openings and usually find even the smallest crack. They climb and build until they hit pay dirt and they almost always find what they are looking for unless proper remedial action is taken.

YOUR BEST BET

To avoid trouble with this costly and universal pest, let me advise a regular check up by one of our experienced pest control operators. Our service costs far less than many home repairs that are made necessary by this pest. Homeowners who call us will be surprised at how reasonable our service can be. We will be glad to come to your home for a free inspection at your convenience. You may call us at FUlton 5-5720.

The work will include cleaning the interior of the building and mowing and cutting of brush in the yard. Persons volunteering should bring buckets, cloths, brooms, scythes and other such equipment, with work scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. It is hoped that services may be held in the building yet this year, the council said.

The council is receiving contributions from various churches and church people. Anyone else wishing to contribute may do so by sending contributions to the Williamsport Church Fund, Lisbon, 44432.

Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers is president of the council.

COATESVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Four persons were killed and three others, including an infant, were seriously injured in a flaming two-car head-on collision on the Coatesville - Downington bypass, about 2½ miles north of here.

State police reported three of the dead were in one car, which was westbound on the bypass when it crossed the medial strip, traveled an estimated 100 yards into the eastbound lane and collided headon with a second car going in the opposite direction.

The westbound vehicle burst into flames and its driver was thrown to the highway.

Insects AND YOUR HEALTH

TERMITES

Did you know that termites roamed the earth as many as 250 million years ago? They cause an estimated 250 million dollars damage yearly . . . more than fire or storms or any other hazards. They have been known to eat through as much as 5 inches of concrete. According to a recent news release from the NATIONAL PEST CONTROL ASSOCIATION, the termite is the most persistent, most highly organized and most destructive insect pest in most of these United States, but the NPCA notes, termite damage can be prevented. Modern scientific methods can keep termites out of buildings and kill those that have gotten in.

SIMPLE PROOF

Anyone who has left a stake in the ground for a few months and then pulled it out to see how it has been furrowed will realize how well the termite scouts for food supplies. If, as they travel, they run up against a house foundation, they search out any possible openings and usually find even the smallest crack. They climb and build until they hit pay dirt and they almost always find what they are looking for unless proper remedial action is taken.

YOUR BEST BET

To avoid trouble with this costly and universal pest, let me advise a regular check up by one of our experienced pest control operators. Our service costs far less than many home repairs that are made necessary by this pest. Homeowners who call us will be surprised at how reasonable our service can be. We will be glad to come to your home for a free inspection at your convenience. You may call us at FUlton 5-5720.

A New Kind Of American

A new federal department of urban affairs is in the making. It has been voted by the House and is going to have a green light in the Senate.

The new department will build up a bureaucracy and in course of time will have a new building. It will be given a whopping appropriation.

Its secretary will whip up a legislative program. Its public relations people will prepare press releases, and all visiting arm-twisters will beat a path to the new department when they go to Washington to ferret out money.

And all this flurry will miss the mark as far as the problem it was supposed to solve is concerned. This is because despite the billions of dollars and millions of man-hours that have been spent on it.

The problem is only partly in the realm of urban affairs.

Urban affairs are involved in it, but they are not the problem.

THE PROBLEM is the evolution of huge concentrations of population in the areas referred to as "strip cities." These are a new population entity — not cities, not counties, not states, not just heavily populated areas, but something never seen before.

The need for a new concept of government to satisfy their inhabitants is obvious. But it is not going to be satisfied by anything that starts with the assumption the new entities are like cities; they aren't.

It is not going to be satisfied by any preconceived pattern of composition; they are all different. Some lie in two, even three states. The nature of their population varies widely, as do their social and political inclinations.

These new metropolises are far and away the most sensational and significant development of the 20th century, but they are being treated by old-line tradition-bound politicians as if they either did not exist, or as if they were no different from the central cities and the suburban fringe that were familiar earlier in this century.

THERE IS NO comparison.

It is unrealistic to think of Americans as being either urban or rural. There now is a vast category that no one in government recognizes — the non-rural, non-urban American — the American who lives in a municipality nor on a farm.

The problem the federal government should be tackling is how to help set up area-wide governments to handle the interlocking affairs of municipalities, suburbs, townships, counties, states and metropolitan areas where population density has brought people into close contact and hard conflict.

'Whatever Is Necessary'

The policy aspect of the war in Viet Nam is being thoroughly aired in public discussion, as it should be.

If there is to be no congressional debate in behalf of the sovereign people of the nation, the sovereign people have every right to carry on a debate of their own.

The military aspect of the war, on the other hand, is ignored. It is the concern of the Department of Defense and the militarists on the job.

Yet it is as proper to be concerned about the military problem in Viet Nam as the policy that caused the military problem to exist. They are inseparable.

Can the U.S. military organization carry out the assignment that is implied in the Johnson administration's pledge to do "whatever is necessary" to bring the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam to the conference table?

The enemy, too, knows a little something about "escalating" wars.

The enemy, too, has calculated the chances of inflicting such severe punishment that the opposition will be in a mood to negotiate.

The threat of all-out aerial attack and the damage already done to their barracks, bridges and ammunition dumps is very real to the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese. They are doing everything they can to minimize damage. They seemingly were successful in minimizing the large-scale attack Friday in which three square miles were bombed, with no reported damage to the enemy but with the loss of two multi-million-dollar B52 bombers and most of their crews.

Americans assume with praiseworthy confidence that their military might is insuperable. But the assumption needs to be related in Viet Nam to the fact it has been insuperable in previous wars only because it has been massive.

The United States has overwhelmed its opponents and furnished its allies with masses of materiel to accomplish the same purpose.

The question always has been and is now whether the United States can overwhelm its opponents in Viet Nam — whether the administration can carry out its pledge to do "whatever is necessary" in an Asiatic jungle. It would mean a full-scale war commitment.

That is what it ultimately meant in Korea just to achieve a truce. Could all-out aerial bombardment have brought victory there? The point is moot, the way it is in Viet Nam, where bombardment so far has had no known effect.

Be Careful!

Injuries to motorcycle and bicycle riders re-emphasize the need for extreme caution on the part of those who choose to pursue this form of transportation and recreation.

The odds continue to be stacked heavily against them, with heavier autos, trucks and tractor-trailers more than a match for the smaller-type vehicles.

What to do about it? The same thing that always has been done — continued pleas for sounder judgment by the motorcyclists, for their own safety and the safety of others, and renewed efforts on the part of parents to impress on bicyclists the price of carelessness.

Health Warning For All

A Senate vote of 72-5 for a health warning on cigarette packages sounds like a thumping mandate for action until it is discovered that three years would elapse first. In any event, the House of Representatives hasn't even voted yet.

With this in mind, the 72-5 vote sounds like what it is — a way to support the idea of a warning without supporting the practice. Anything can happen in three years. Senators know how to stall for time.

The tobacco industry in 1968 could be claiming a cigarette with no health hazards.

It could have established its claim that cigarette smoking's health hazards have been exaggerated, the same as the health hazards of cholesterol were exaggerated a few years ago.

Second thought in legislative circles could have made it clear in three years that if one article in the market place must be proclaimed a health hazard all other health hazards in the market place should be proclaimed the same way.

The one that comes to mind first, of course, is alcohol. All alcoholic beverages would have to be labeled in such a way that no user could be oblivious of potential damage to his health.

Chewing gum containing sugar would have to be labeled in a way to keep kiddies from endangering their teeth. Candy would have to bear a warning about its potential effect on health.

Could it be that U.S. senators actually believe people who smoke cigarettes are not as aware of possible health damage as people who consume alcohol and like sugar?

The Moderates

By Truman Twill

Discovery of a dynamite cache 20 miles from Washington, at the site of a training camp run by an organization called Minutemen, has stirred up a flurry of excitement.

The cache was found by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which keeps track of Minutemen members, along with Ku Kluxers, Communists, Nazis, when they show their pointed heads, and Fascists, when Mussolini was still in style.

We moderates find this reassuring.

Those of us who admit that disposition and experience have caused us to be moderates have no protection against extremists, other than our own nature and the police power implicit in government.

We are acutely aware that bully-boys of both the left and the right are eyeing us for the pushing over they think we deserve because we belong to none of their extremist outfits and are equally disapproving of all of them.

This is why we say in our analysis of the danger that surrounds us that we are as afraid of strong-arm gangs of the right as of the left.

We are afraid of all strong-arm gangs. Their position in the ideological spectrum is of no importance. It's good to know the FBI is in a mood to make itself unpopular with both sides; that it's as eager to sniff out a cache of explosives on the site of a Minutemen training camp as on the site of a Communist training camp.

It's like having our own actionist outfit to look after the interests of us moderates —the people everybody despises until it's time to do something constructive.

Apollo—Waiting In The Wings

By David Hoffman

An engineer whose life is the national space program was asked the difference between Project Gemini and the Apollo moon mission. "What's this Gemini?" he snorted with a straight face. Then, pretending to think for a second he wisecracked: "Oh yes, the little trainer."

Despite the heroics of astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White, they talk this way at North American Aviation in Los Angeles. For North American, more than any other single company, is responsible for Apollo's success or failure, for winning or losing the moon race.

Gemini is costing American taxpayers close to $1.4 billion but to several hundred companies immersed in the moon mission, it's merely a gymnasium for Apollo astronauts. This becomes clear when astronaut Ed White's 20-minute walk in space is put in Apollo perspective. Had Ed White gone to the moon, the walk might have saved his life.

By 1969, hopefully, three astronauts will steer their Apolllo spacecraft into a lunar orbit. Then two of the three will loosen their safety belts, and, with a little push, float to the top of their crew compartment. There, they squeeze through a tunnnel, open a complicated airlock and enter the cockpit of the "lunar excursion module," the so-called bug that lands softly on the surface of the moon.

MEANWHILE, the third astronaut circles above in the "'command module," the so - called bug that lands softly on the surface of the moon.

Their mission complete, the two astronauts blast off from the moon and rendezvous with the command module. They nudge it with the narrow nose of the lunar bug and the two latch together. They attempt to open the airlock and the lock doesn't budge. Behind the moon, where the temperature is minus 230 degrees, the metal had shrunk. On the moon's bright side, where the temperature is plus 250 degrees, the metal had expanded. Critical parts no longer fit despite a thousand engineers' foresight.

Now, the two astronauts must duplicate the feat of Ed White in order to survive. They must crawl out into mooon space, pull their way over to the command-module and climb through its side hatch.

No one belittles Gemini by comparing it with Apollo. But the statistics shed light on the magnitude of U.S. space plans.

Whereas, the funnel - shaped Gemini spacecraft can sustain a pair of astronauts for 14 days in earth orbit, the Apollo spacecraft can keep three alive for 45 days.

Whereas the Titan booster that orbited Gemini generates 430,000 pounds of push, the Saturn 5 boost underneath Apollo will generate 7.5 million. Titan II put the 7,500 pound Gemini in orbit with ease. But with equal ease, Saturn 5 will send a 90,000 - pound payload hurtling toward the moon.

APOLLO hardware is so impressive that few pay much attention to the personal, psychological and medical problems that Apollo astronauts will face on their moon shuttles.

Dr. Gordon Wells, Apollo flight surgeon, puffed his pipe reflectively and told the reporter "to think about this for awhile. In all the history of mankind, when we wanted to punish someone, we put him in a small, dark place."

Test after test has shown that long confinement tends to produce "psychological panic," says Dr. Wells. The body temperature drops. Glands begin to produce abnormal quantities of hormone, especially the hormones that control the metabolic process.

The spacemen are trained by experience never to let emotions interfere with work. But the end product of prolonged emotional suppression is physical fatigue, so the circle closes.

Apollo doctors believe they can relieve the "tedium" of long space flights by keeping the astronauts busy. They plan to install a device made popular by over-weight, earthbound executives — a sort of exercycle.

TWO OR THREE times a day each astronaut is to lie on the spacecraft floor and pump the pedals of an exercycle for 15 to 20 minutes. Tension on the pedals would be adjustable, to compensate for the men's varying strengths.

So precious is energy in space that use of astronaut foot power to generate electricity is considered.

If all three astronauts stand up in Apollo, each can move approximately one foot sideways without bumping into one another. Can three men endure such cramped quarters around-the-clock for 14 days? Paradoxically, only the 28 astronauts are absolutely certain they can tolerate each other for a fortnight in space. The possibilities of what might occur in space are weighed and medicinals are included in the astronauts' drug kit. If one astronaut is sensitive to a particular drug, a substitute would be carried aboard his Apollo flight.

Once the flight crew is chosen, NASA forces the astronauts to live in close contact so that, prior to launch, each has the same complement of microbes in this throat as do the others. This isolation period normally would begin one week before a specific mission. It would rule out the possibility of exchanging such diseases as measles and scarlet fever while the spacecraft is aloft.

Odd Facts

The most northerly inhabited place in the world is a Danish scientific station at Pearyland, northern Greenland, which is more than 900 miles north of the Artic Circle.

The original thirteen states and Texas and Oklahoma never held the status of territories. All other states were territories before being admitted to the Union.

Big Tax Gamble

By David Lawrence

Taxes And Spending Increase Over Nation

The big gamble is on. Cuts in national excise taxes as well as federal income taxes are supposed to continue the present business boom and even expand it. But as the federal government reduces its levies, the states are beginning to take advantage of the situation to increase their own taxes so as to get some of the money that isn't going to be collected by the U.S. Treasury.

David Lawrence

If the present trend is continued, state taxes in five years will total about $43 billion. This will be $19 billion more than in 1964, or a 79 per cent increase.

Seven states recently have increased sales taxes. Two states adopted new ones. Cigarette taxes, as well as gasoline taxes, have also been increased in many states. State income taxes are being raised in two other states.

While the states are trying to increase their revenues, the federal government is doing more and more spending and projecting more and more deficits.

The federal budget is not likely to be kept at $100 billion very much longer. General welfare appropriations as well as defense expenses are expected to rise, and there is little prospect of a reduction.

MILITARY and civilian pay raises in government are being proposed, and pressure is starting in Congress for various other outlays that will take the budget far beyond the $100 billion mark in a short time. If business slows down, naturally there will be an even sharper rise in government spending.

What do these trends mean? The gamble for continuing prosperity while ignoring Treasury deficits cannot go on indefinitely. The assumption on which the tax cuts and the repeal of the excise taxes have been based is that business will expand to such an extend that receipts from both income taxes and corporation taxes will more than offset the tax revenues lost and will also furnish a surplus.

This has not happened thus far. The administration is gambling that it will happen.

The secretary of the Treasury, while not setting the date, is promising another cut in income taxes, the theory being that money will flow freely into investment and other constructige channels if tax rates are lowered still further.

The trouble is, though, that nobody knows how long it might take to produce enough taxes out of these experiments to bring about a balanced budget. Certainly public confidence will eventually be weakened if the budget is not balanced.

THE UNITED STATES is not isolated in an economic sense and cannot do as it pleases. Indeed, the future of the American dollar depends largely on international factors. Reaction to the recent American deficit in its balance of payments is an example of how the soundness of a monetary unit can be challenged and produce an outflow of gold.

Interest rates—artificially held down to some extend thus far — may have to be raised sooner or later in order to attract foreign investments to this country. Conversely, American investors will look abroad if the interest rates in Europe and other parts of the world are higher than in this country.

So Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr., of the Federal Reserve Board may be proved right some day when he hints that it may become necessary to increase interest rates in this country in order to achieve a proper balance on the international side.

There are certainly dangers ahead in the administration's tax and fiscal policy.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS must continue at a prosperous pace, and the Treasury must be able to collect sufficient tax money to overcome the big cuts in tax rates and the deficits in revenue for the government's gamble to be successful.

If this doesn't happen, there may be a loss of confidence in the dollar itself and inflation can ensue. Serious inflation is usually scoffed at in official quarters as unlikely. It's argued that plenty of safeguards can be applied to prevent a dangerous inflation.

Inflation, however, is often a matter of mass psychology. When prices begin to rise and the cost of living increases, the labor unions have a way of moving the wage scales up, too. Then the nation's economy is brought to a critical stage, and some readjustments that are painful to the economy become inevitable.

The biggest single factor in the administration's gamble today is the belief that business will boom as taxes are cut. It remains to be seen whether the increases in state taxes and other burdens on the national economy can be achieved by more and more government spending and more and more borrowing to meet annual deficits.

How To Fail In Business

By William Nickinson Jr.

Americans demand the world's biggest and most powerful Navy, but seem willing to settle for a fifth-rate merchant marine.

Lloyd's Registry of Shipping lists the following order on ocean - going merchantmen: Great Britain, 21.4 million gross tons; Liberia, 14.5 million (much of it American-owned); Norway 14.4 million; Japan, 10.8 million; United States 9.8 million; Soviet bloc, 8.8 million.

U.S. ports this year will handle about 315 million tons of exports and imports, but only 9.1 per cent will be carried on U.S. flag vessels. If the decline is allowed to continue, it is expected that 20 years from now, when U.S. trade will total about 685 million tons, only 3 per cent will be carried in American bottoms.

Our merchant fleet is an object lesson in the perils of pricing a product out of the world market. To construct a ship in a U.S. shipyard costs twice as much as in a foreign yard. Operating costs of U.S. merchant vessels are higher than those of foreign ships, mainly because of higher wages and more fringe benefits.

HARSH ECONOMICS have taken their toll since the end of World War II. In 1949 there were 3,421 ships in the U.S. merchant fleet; in 1964 only 2,529 merchant ships sailed under the U.S. flag, a decrease of 26.1 per cent.

The decline has continued apace despite subsidy programs dating back to 1936. The government now pays out $100 million a year in construction subsidies; it finances 55 per cent of original construction costs and 60 per cent of reconstruction and reconditioning expenses.

Cargo preference subsidies total about $80 million annually. A third type of subsidy — the operating differential — eats up $200 million every year to help meet wages and operating costs on cargo vessels and passenger ships. Uncle Sam pays 72 cents of every dollar of a subsidized seaman's wage.

Despite the $380 million annual largesse, the United States can barely maintain the present numbers of subsidized carriers afloat. Meanwhile the merchant fleets of other maritime nations are expanding. Maritime Administrator Nichlas Johnson puts part of the blame on a requirement in the Merchant Marine Act that U.S.-subsidized ship lines must operate U.S.-built vessels.

JOHNSON SEEMS to favor a new policy which would assure that a shipbuilding capacity essential to the national interest is maintained but at the same time permit U.S. shipowners to purchase ships wherever they wish.

He says the cargo preference subsidy program is a "miserable failure" because not a single new tramp (non-scheduled) cargo ship has been built in American yards since 1956. Meanwhile the cost of keeping the old tramp ships afloat climbs higher and higher.

The maritime administrator asserts that the present system gives ship operators little incentive to reduce subsidizable costs, for then "the government will simply pay them less in subsidy." If continued on the present basis, the subsidies are conservatively estimated to total between $600 million and $700 million annually by 1968.

A New Kind Of American

A new federal department of urban affairs is in the making. It has been voted by the House and is going to have a green light in the Senate.

The new department will build up a bureaucracy and in course of time will have a new building. It will be given a whopping appropriation.

Its secretary will whip up a legislative program. Its public relations people will prepare press releases, and all visiting arm-twisters will beat a path to the new department when they go to Washington to ferret out money.

And all this flurry will miss the mark as far as the problem it was supposed to solve is concerned. This is because despite the billions of dollars and millions of man-hours that have been spent on it.

The problem is only partly in the realm of urban affairs.

Urban affairs are involved in it, but they are not the problem.

THE PROBLEM is the evolution of huge concentrations of population in the areas referred to as "strip cities." These are a new population entity — not cities, not counties, not states, not just heavily populated areas, but something never seen before.

The need for a new concept of government to satisfy their inhabitants is obvious. But it is not going to be satisfied by anything that starts with the assumption the new entities are like cities; they aren't.

It is not going to be satisfied by any preconceived pattern of composition; they are all different. Some lie in two, even three states. The nature of their population varies widely, as do their social and political inclinations.

These new metropolises are far and away the most sensational and significant development of the 20th century, but they are being treated by old-line tradition-bound politicians as if they either did not exist, or as if they were no different from the central cities and the suburban fringe that were familiar earlier in this century.

THERE IS NO comparison.

It is unrealistic to think of Americans as being either urban or rural. There now is a vast category that no one in government recognizes — the non-rural, non-urban American — the American who lives in a municipality nor on a farm.

The problem the federal government should be tackling is how to help set up area-wide governments to handle the interlocking affairs of municipalities, suburbs, townships, counties, states and metropolitan areas where population density has brought people into close contact and hard conflict.

'Whatever Is Necessary'

The policy aspect of the war in Viet Nam is being thoroughly aired in public discussion, as it should be.

If there is to be no congressional debate in behalf of the sovereign people of the nation, the sovereign people have every right to carry on a debate of their own.

The military aspect of the war, on the other hand, is ignored. It is the concern of the Department of Defense and the militarists on the job.

Yet it is as proper to be concerned about the military problem in Viet Nam as the policy that caused the military problem to exist. They are inseparable.

Can the U.S. military organization carry out the assignment that is implied in the Johnson administration's pledge to do "whatever is necessary" to bring the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam to the conference table?

The enemy, too, knows a little something about "escalating" wars.

The enemy, too, has calculated the chances of inflicting such severe punishment that the opposition will be in a mood to negotiate.

The threat of all-out aerial attack and the damage already done to their barracks, bridges and ammunition dumps is very real to the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese. They are doing everything they can to minimize damage. They seemingly were successful in minimizing the large-scale attack Friday in which three square miles were bombed, with no reported damage to the enemy but with the loss of two multi-million-dollar B52 bombers and most of their crews.

Americans assume with praiseworthy confidence that their military might is insuperable. But the assumption needs to be related in Viet Nam to the fact it has been insuperable in previous wars only because it has been massive.

The United States has overwhelmed its opponents and furnished its allies with masses of materiel to accomplish the same purpose.

The question always has been and is now whether the United States can overwhelm its opponents in Viet Nam — whether the administration can carry out its pledge to do "whatever is necessary" in an Asiatic jungle. It would mean a full-scale war commitment.

That is what it ultimately meant in Korea just to achieve a truce. Could all-out aerial bombardment have brought victory there? The point is moot, the way it is in Viet Nam, where bombardment so far has had no known effect.

Be Careful!

Injuries to motorcycle and bicycle riders re-emphasize the need for extreme caution on the part of those who choose to pursue this form of transportation and recreation.

The odds continue to be stacked heavily against them, with heavier autos, trucks and tractor-trailers more than a match for the smaller-type vehicles.

What to do about it? The same thing that always has been done — continued pleas for sounder judgment by the motorcyclists, for their own safety and the safety of others, and renewed efforts on the part of parents to impress on bicyclists the price of carelessness.

Health Warning For All

A Senate vote of 72-5 for a health warning on cigarette packages sounds like a thumping mandate for action until it is discovered that three years would elapse first. In any event, the House of Representatives hasn't even voted yet.

With this in mind, the 72-5 vote sounds like what it is — a way to support the idea of a warning without supporting the practice. Anything can happen in three years. Senators know how to stall for time.

The tobacco industry in 1968 could be claiming a cigarette with no health hazards.

It could have established its claim that cigarette smoking's health hazards have been exaggerated, the same as the health hazards of cholesterol were exaggerated a few years ago.

Second thought in legislative circles could have made it clear in three years that if one article in the market place must be proclaimed a health hazard all other health hazards in the market place should be proclaimed the same way.

The one that comes to mind first, of course, is alcohol. All alcoholic beverages would have to be labeled in such a way that no user could be oblivious of potential damage to his health.

Chewing gum containing sugar would have to be labeled in a way to keep kiddies from endangering their teeth. Candy would have to bear a warning about its potential effect on health.

Could it be that U.S. senators actually believe people who smoke cigarettes are not as aware of possible health damage as people who consume alcohol and like sugar?

The Moderates

By Truman Twill

Discovery of a dynamite cache 20 miles from Washington, at the site of a training camp run by an organization called Minutemen, has stirred up a flurry of excitement.

The cache was found by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which keeps track of Minutemen members, along with Ku Kluxers, Communists, Nazis, when they show their pointed heads, and Fascists, when Mussolini was still in style.

We moderates find this reassuring.

Those of us who admit that disposition and experience have caused us to be moderates have no protection against extremists, other than our own nature and the police power implicit in government.

We are acutely aware that bully-boys of both the left and the right are eyeing us for the pushing over they think we deserve because we belong to none of their extremist outfits and are equally disapproving of all of them.

So Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr., of the Federal Reserve Board may be proved right some day when he hints that it may become necessary to increase interest rates in this country in order to achieve a proper balance on the international side.

There are certainly dangers ahead in the administration's tax and fiscal policy.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS must continue at a prosperous pace, and the Treasury must be able to collect sufficient tax money to overcome the big cuts in tax rates and the deficits in revenue for the government's gamble to be successful.

If this doesn't happen, there may be a loss of confidence in the dollar itself and inflation can ensue. Serious inflation is usually scoffed at in official quarters as unlikely. It's argued that plenty of safeguards can be applied to prevent a dangerous inflation.

Inflation, however, is often a matter of mass psychology. When prices begin to rise and the cost of living increases, the labor unions have a way of moving the wage scales up, too. Then the nation's economy is brought to a critical stage, and some readjustments that are painful to the economy become inevitable.

The biggest single factor in the administration's gamble today is the belief that business will boom as taxes are cut. It remains to be seen whether the increases in state taxes and other burdens on the national economy can be achieved by more and more government spending and more and more borrowing to meet annual deficits.

How To Fail In Business

By William Nickinson Jr.

Americans demand the world's biggest and most powerful Navy, but seem willing to settle for a fifth-rate merchant marine.

Lloyd's Registry of Shipping lists the following order on ocean - going merchantmen: Great Britain, 21.4 million gross tons; Liberia, 14.5 million (much of it American-owned); Norway 14.4 million; Japan, 10.8 million; United States 9.8 million; Soviet bloc, 8.8 million.

U.S. ports this year will handle about 315 million tons of exports and imports, but only 9.1 per cent will be carried on U.S. flag vessels. If the decline is allowed to continue, it is expected that 20 years from now, when U.S. trade will total about 685 million tons, only 3 per cent will be carried in American bottoms.

Our merchant fleet is an object lesson in the perils of pricing a product out of the world market. To construct a ship in a U.S. shipyard costs twice as much as in a foreign yard. Operating costs of U.S. merchant vessels are higher than those of foreign ships, mainly because of higher wages and more fringe benefits.

HARSH ECONOMICS have taken their toll since the end of World War II. In 1949 there were 3,421 ships in the U.S. merchant fleet; in 1964 only 2,529 merchant ships sailed under the U.S. flag, a decrease of 26.1 per cent.

The decline has continued apace despite subsidy programs dating back to 1936. The government now pays out $100 million a year in construction subsidies; it finances 55 per cent of original construction costs and 60 per cent of reconstruction and reconditioning expenses.

Cargo preference subsidies total about $80 million annually. A third type of subsidy — the operating differential — eats up $200 million every year to help meet wages and operating costs on cargo vessels and passenger ships. Uncle Sam pays 72 cents of every dollar of a subsidized seaman's wage.

Despite the $380 million annual largesse, the United States can barely maintain the present numbers of subsidized carriers afloat. Meanwhile the merchant fleets of other maritime nations are expanding. Maritime Administrator Nichlas Johnson puts part of the blame on a requirement in the Merchant Marine Act that U.S.-subsidized ship lines must operate U.S.-built vessels.

JOHNSON SEEMS to favor a new policy which would assure that a shipbuilding capacity essential to the national interest is maintained but at the same time permit U.S. shipowners to purchase ships wherever they wish.

He says the cargo preference subsidy program is a "miserable failure" because not a single new tramp (non-scheduled) cargo ship has been built in American yards since 1956. Meanwhile the cost of keeping the old tramp ships afloat climbs higher and higher.

The maritime administrator asserts that the present system gives ship operators little incentive to reduce subsidizable costs, for then "the government will simply pay them less in subsidy." If continued on the present basis, the subsidies are conservatively estimated to total between $600 million and $700 million annually by 1968.

Ice Cream And Crab Grass

Good Ol' Summertime

By ROBERT POPP

"The summer solstice," the observatory's press release announces ponderously, "will occur in the Eastern Time Zone at 10:56 a. m. on Monday, June 21."

So then comes summer, the time of dew-laden roses on a sunny morning and the cloying scent of honeysuckle on a rustic trellis.

It's a time of breathless evenings, when the fireflies' brief phosphorescent glow casts enchantment over a suburban lawn, while swallows and swifts dart through the twilight.

It's a time when asphalt pavements bleed a sticky goo that crackles like rain under auto wheels; when heat waves rise off pavements and the air hangs heavy with the mixed odors of tar and exhaust fumes.

SO THEN IT'S SUMMER, when the scent of new-mown hay hangs everywhere in the countryside, sending memories rushing back to straw and chaff on a sweating neck, the sharp feel of wheat stubble under bare feet and the cool retreat in the springhouse where milk and butter and cream were placed to cool.

And there's an angry whine of outboards on the Ohio, but a deep stillness late at night, punctuated only by an occasional ripple of water against boats bobbing at their moorings.

It's a time when nothing tastes better than root beer from a frosted mug, when once solid ice cream melts atop the cone and drips to one's elbow, despite frantic licking efforts.

And it's a time when Pop in his undershirt and Mom in her loose housedress perch on stoops in congested areas, watching passing cars and pedestrians with heat-blearied eyes and waiting for the bedrooms upstairs to drop to a temperature just a little below that of the Sahara at midday.

And when rain is in the air, the shouts of children echo for hundreds of yards and the deep-throated tone of the riverboat's horn and the eerie shout of the diesel train's whistle can be heard for miles.

IT'S SUMMER WHEN:
Small boys go on safari in fearful dark places, pitching tents in the back yard within 50 feet of the refrigerator and 75 feet of the bathroom.

Moths batter against window screens on steamy nights; hordes of insects buzz around street lights.

Fathers doze on porch gliders and listen to baseball games. Mothers dream of menus that require no cooking and little dish-washing.

Families on vacation whirr along four-lane highways in air-conditioned cars, paralleling the routes over which hardier souls trudged 100 years ago at a five-mile-a-day pace while goading oxen that pulled Conestoga wagons.

HALF THE POPULATION of Southern California heads frantically for visits with relatives back home in Iowa or Ohio or Arkansas or New Jersey. Some go by way of Las Vegas and get no further.

Shoes off, lemonade handy, hammock gently swinging in the cool breeze, Lewis Stoddard of Lisbon St. Ext. savors the full enjoyment of relaxing on a gentle summer afternoon.

Thousands of cars with California and Arizona and New Mexico tags turn up in the humid east, after passing just as many thousands with New Jersey and Ohio and Delaware plates heading for the dust-dry west.

Crickets chirp in safe retreats. Bullfrogs croak along little streams. And fishermen ensconced in the shade of a drooping tree doze away the afternoons, impervious to a nibble from anything smaller than Moby Dick or a Polaris class sub.

Chains on porch swings wail protestingly as families rest and chat on old-fashioned front porches. Ice cubes tinkle in glasses of tea and lemonade and punch. The "ding" of the bell on the frozen custard vendor's truck resounds through the neighborhood, rousing restless children to life with demands for dimes.

BUTTERMILK GURGLES temptingly as it's poured from a dew-covered pitcher. Cotton candy and popcorn come into their own again at amusement parks and carnivals. Drive-in theaters are crowded with the cars of courting couples and the family sedans full of sleeping children and dozing parents — mother with her hair in curlers and father in slacks and slippers.

And then there's that nice couple you met in 1956 in Apache Junction, Ariz., making good on their promise to look you up if they ever were east of the Mississippi.

Fresh from an 800-mile grind over the highways in a grimy station wagon, they invade the premises with six pieces of luggage, a cretinous, adenoidal son with masochistic tendencies and a daughter who thinks she is Elizabeth Taylor and dresses the part.

Congregations doze through interminable Sunday morning sermons contemplating the relief of removing suit jackets and tight shoes while wondering seriously about the reason why an air-conditioned church is such a rarity.

Grass doesn't take a summer vacation. Mike Karcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Karcher of St. Clair Ave., tackles a lawn task.

Water fun is the focal point of youth recreation from June to September, and Elaine Visnick, 17, of Midland, life guard at the Memorial Pool at Midland, is no exception.

John Bailey of Newell Heights, sophomore at West Liberty State College and member of the golf team, joins other area fairways enthusiasts in sharpening mid-season form.

Spectacles slip from perspiring nose bridges and chafe sensitive ears; the words from ballpoint pens turn into a smudged mess and copy paper becomes dank, like a handful of well-cooked spaghetti.

CHILDREN OFF FOR summer camp, the red welts of poison ivy on sunburned legs and the angry red blotches of mosquito bites . . . they're all part of the time. Plus crab grass and heat rash and mildew and sun stroke and raspberry stains on pickers' fingers.

So then it's summer, when sales of air conditioners soar and soft drinks and hot dogs become the national diet.

When TV screens go dark for days at a time and dogs dig holes under shrubs to provide a cool retreat. And children cavort under the cool sprinkle from a garden hose.

It's summer, when shorts-clad girls shuffle along downtown streets in sandals, sunburn remedies smeared on their shoulders, bug bite cures blotching their legs and their hair piled high in curlers.

It's summer, when whole families pore over road maps, figuring how to stretch a fixed number of vacation days over a fixed amount of cash — or vice versa. The beach umbrellas and the tennis rackets come out of the attic and veterinarians are consulted about dog and cat boarding rates.

AND DEEP LETHARGY grips the whole population, between frantic outbursts of energy at pools or parks on weekends. As the temperature and the humidity climb, even the eager beaver types take on a manana attitude and the naturally moderate ones collapse into damp heaps.

And it's summer when cars parked even a brief time in the sun take on an interior temperature that could seem cozy only to a slagger in the openhearth at a steel mill. Windows scatter into fragments at times in implosions induced by the heat and any metal surface feels as though it's just a little too hot for frying an egg.

And last of all, know what?

It will be winter Monday in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and Managua, Nicaraugua, and Quito, Ecuador, and all those other places in the Southern Hemisphere.

Dale Dudgeon, 2, of Chester may not know what a solstice is, but a double-decker cone spells summer any way he looks at it. Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnnm 'Dudgeon of Church Alley.

The Lighter Side

Homing pigeons instinctively know which direction to travel in to get back to their coops, little lambs can pick out their mothers from hundreds of other sheep, and baby alligators and turtles head directly for the water once they are hatched from eggs.

But nothing, absolutely nothing, can top the instinct of a wife to know just when to say something to her husband that will literally knock him for a loop.

He can go home at night from working hard all day in a sweltering office or laboring over hot steel in the mill, and the little woman will invariably say "Wouldn't you just love to build a fire in the grill and charcoal some hamburgers for supper?"

There's nothing like eating smoke and standing over hot charcoal so everyone else can enjoy their supper.

THE BOSS HAS been climbing all over your back all day. Nothing went right. Even your buddies were irritable and snapped you off. On the way home the car engine develops a knock and one of the tires starts bumping.

You crawl into your little haven of rest, anticipating peace and relaxation. Your loving wife greets you at the door and says "I'm a miserable wreck. The children are driving me mad. I must talk to someone, sit down while I tell you what all went wrong today."

About this time you hear the television newscaster state that some kook has predicted the world is coming to an end in 48 more days. You know the man who made the prediction is crazy because it already happened five minutes ago!

TODAY YOU learn you received a pay increase. Small, to be sure, but enough to boost your ego.

You plan all the way home what you are going to do with those few extra bucks. Maybe get that fishing outfit you've been dreaming about. Perhaps invest in a new set of golf clubs or think a little more about a color television set.

Joyfully walking up the steps, with a little more spring in your feet than usual, you gleefully open the door to tell the good news to that sweet little thing who is preparing your supper.

Before you can open your mouth, she blurts out, "Darling, I've decided to begin making my own clothes and today I ordered a new sewing machine. Don't worry, the monthly payments are small and are spread out over a four year period."

IT'S A HOT DAY. But luckily it's your day off. And the grass is cut, the basement cleaned out, the car washed and all the other small jobs are done.

Nothing could be more perfect. Just put on some comfortable shorts, grab the radio, get some liquid refreshment and stretch out to listen to the baseball game.

Boy, it really feels good to relax once in a while with nothing to worry about. Then the little woman appears on the scene to inform you, "I promised Aunt Minnie that you would drive her to the tattoo shop today to have the line put on her left leg to represent the seam in her stockings. You know that she doesn't like to ride those old buses. It makes her nervous and besides she wants to be relaxed so she can enjoy herself when she goes out to club tonight."

ALL THE FISHING tackle is stowed away in the trunk of the car. Mustn't forget the golf clubs. After all, there might be a small course near the lake. The boys said this was going to be one grand weekend away from it all and you don't want to leave anything behind.

Glad I mentioned this trip about a week ago at the dinner table. Funny I didn't get much response, but again, the wonderful woman didn't say she minded.

Here she comes now out the door. She's really something to have such consideration for me. What's she saying?

"Darling, I am glad you have the car out of the garage. I knew you wouldn't mind, I even said that to Mrs. Hoopendinger. She just couldn't believe it when I told her that you would drive Suzie and her 10 little Girl Scout friends to the nature camp and remain for the day as a guard."

EVERY BONE IN your body aches. It has been a rough day. You are dead tired. Nothing short of an atomic bomb going off in the back yard could keep you awake tonight. The bed feels wonderful. Just stretch out and let sleep come over you like a beautiful dream.

The wife, already nearly asleep, turns her head and mutters, "Dear, don't forget to get up early in the morning so you can write out checks to the grocer, doctor, department store, dentist, car payment, house payment, clothing shop, the water bill, gas bill, electric bill, etc., etc., etc...."

Ah, sweet Morpheus, where did you flee?

It almost seems like there is a diabolical master plan against man, else why would woman have been given such an instinct for saying the wrong thing at just the right time . . .

Columbiana County's covered bridges, quaint but still practical remants of yesteryear, continue to draw the attention of visitors from throughout the nation. Picturesque at any season, the six spans are ever the subjects of photography, amateur and professional. This view of one on Trinity Church Rd. west of Gavers is part of a series of pictures by Michael Chickiris of Salineville, student at Kent State University, who undertook the camera work as part of a journalism course.

You And The Law

Sam and Sue were standing on the sidewalk, admiring the house that sported the fresh sign, "For Sale."

"Say, that's really a nice house. I wonder what it's like inside," said Sam.

No sooner had he spoken, than the real estate agent drove up.

"Come on in, folks. Look around," the agent greeted them.

AFTER A complete tour of the house, Sam and Sue held a quick conference. Sam then turned to the agent and said:

"It looks great, but there are some things I want to find out before I sign anything. After all, $18,000 is a heck of a lot of money to spend in one place. I'd like to check with my attorney before doing anything."

Sam's caution can pay off for him in the long—and short—run of things. Usually, the first step in buying a home is the making of an offer to purchase. Upon acceptance of the offer a contract is created.

Too few people realize the extreme importance of the offer to purchase. It is not just a way of stalling off other buyers. Many a buyer has signed away his rights in an offer to purchase before consulting an attorney — and been sorry for hasty action.

Checking first is always the best policy. If Sam finds everything is OK, he will be assuring himself of the value of the house as well as assuring himself that, should he decide to move, re-sale will be facilitated.

SOME OF the important questions to be answered before signing any papers which legally commit you to buy the house are:

1.—Exactly what property, real and personal, is included?

2.—What kind of financing is this — mortgage or land contract?

3. — What are the terms of payment?

4.—What kind of deed must the seller give?

5.—Is the seller to furnish a "marketable" title?

6.—Have the utilities and improvements been installed and paid for?

7.—Who furnishes a title guarantee and fee policy and who will pay for its abstract or attorney's opinion?

8.—Are there unpaid real estate taxes or special assessments, and who pays for them?

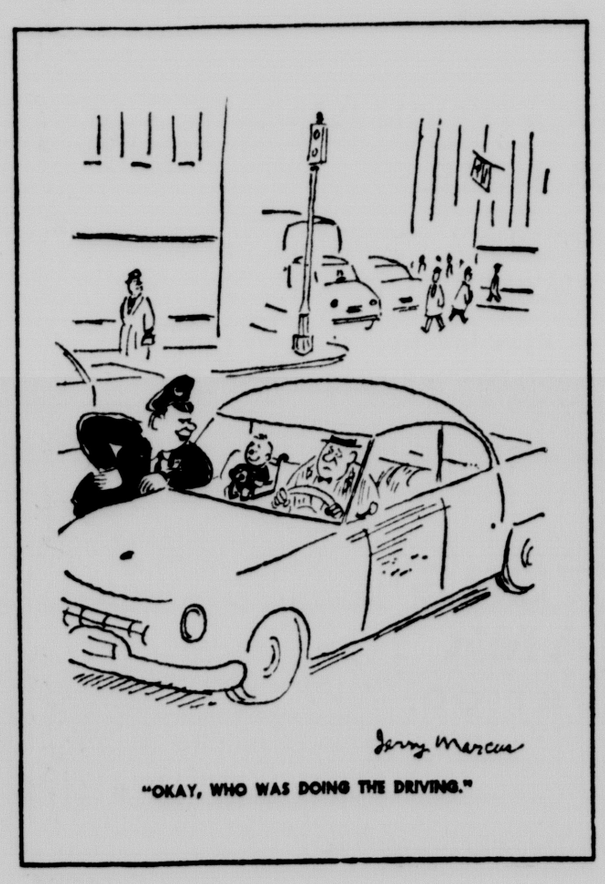

9.—Are any improvements actually located on the lot, and do they conform under zoning regulations?

10.—How much insurance is in force and how is it to be pro-rated?

11.—When is the purchaser to have possession?

12.—How and when must the offer be accepted?

Similarly, the seller should discuss with his attorney any offer received before acceptance. After acceptance of an offer by the seller, the terms of the contract are fixed and cannot be altered except with the consent of the other parties.

"OKAY, WHO WAS DOING THE DRIVING."

The Direct Approach

If you want a thing done, do it yourself, right?

That, apparently, is the firm belief of a 42-year-old Alliance woman.

Lisbon Patrolman John Vokovich this week became suspicious of a car which kept moving from place to place in the business section of the county seat.

The officer investigated, found a woman behind the wheel and asked for an explanation.

She said she lived in Alliance, had three grown children and was looking for a man, wanting to get remarried and live on a farm.

Finding this intention entirely within the law, the officer departed as the woman continued her hunt.

Plane To Plate

SANAA, Yemen — Yemen's air force is being turned into automobile license plates.

The former royalist regime bought 50 Russian-made fighters seven years ago, but left them exposed to the weather until rain and sun ruined the machines.

After the republican revolution of 1962, the number of cars in the country increased, but there was no suitable material from which to make license plates.

The government dismantled the planes and sent wings, fuselages and fuel tanks into a new foundry where they were melted down and cast into license plates.

The idea is not new in Yemen. The late Iman (king) Ahmed once used the aluminum from a plane which had crashed in Yemen to make coins. The money was withdrawn from circulation a year ago.

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO STATE PARKS

Delaware Reservoir off U.S. Route 23, just north of the city of Delaware, is a 1,300-acre body of water that attracts fishermen, boaters, picnickers, and in the fall, hunters.

Unlimited horsepower for motors makes this a most popular inland place for those with outboard motors big enough for Lake Erie.

Fishing is good for bass, crappies, bluegills and catfish.

In all, there is an area of 7,378 acres of land and water in this State park property, which makes it one of the most extensive public recreational areas available the year round.

The Wildlife Division stocks the hunting area with pheasants each year.

Next Week-End... Plan To Attend...

OPEN HOUSE

HANCOCK COUNTY'S CHILDREN'S HOME

PUBLIC GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO TOUR THE NEW CHILDREN'S HOME

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

The new Children's Home in Hancock County was formally dedicated in January. However, when open house was scheduled for the following week-end, an unusually heavy snow-storm made it almost impossible to travel.

Because of the disappointment of many people who expressed a desire that another time be approved for a tour of the home, the board has arranged to open the doors to the public next week-end.

We extend an invitation to everyone to visit the home next Saturday and Sunday, June 26 and 27.

Not until you see this magnificent institution can you appreciate the warmth and beauty that has been engendered for the well-being of the home's occupants.

The home can accommodate sixty-four children comfortably. Aside from eight rooms with eight beds in each, there are three bedrooms for supervisors also located in the dormitory section. Each girl and boy has their own bed with a pull-out drawer and clothes closet.

The dining room, in the front of the building, can seat 60 persons at one setting. A full wall of glass panes, accented with full front drapes, lends a wholesome, open-air atmosphere for pleasant dining. The reception-living room is high-lighted with beautiful furnishings on a bright gold carpet, and the recreation room provides games and recreational facilities as well as television. The kitchen boasts the most modern equipment with two walk-in freezers for food storage.

We again express our gratitude to many persons who have worked untiringly to make this home possible, and extend our thanks to Mr. Michael Starvaggi for his generous contribution of $200,000 for the construction of the home. OPEN HOUSE

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

The new Children's Home in Hancock County was formally dedicated in January. However, when open house was scheduled for the following week-end, an unusually heavy snow-storm made it almost impossible to travel.

Because of the disappointment of many people who expressed a desire that another time be approved for a tour of the home, the board has arranged to open the doors to the public next week-end.

We extend an invitation to everyone to visit the home next Saturday and Sunday, June 26 and 27.

Not until you see this magnificent institution can you appreciate the warmth and beauty that has been engendered for the well-being of the home's occupants.

The home can accommodate sixty-four children comfortably. Aside from eight rooms with eight beds in each, there are three bedrooms for supervisors also located in the dormitory section. Each girl and boy has their own bed with a pull-out drawer and clothes closet.

The dining room, in the front of the building, can seat 60 persons at one setting. A full wall of glass panes, accented with full front drapes, lends a wholesome, open-air atmosphere for pleasant dining. The reception-living room is high-lighted with beautiful furnishings on a bright gold carpet, and the recreation room provides games and recreational facilities as well as television. The kitchen boasts the most modern equipment with two walk-in freezers for food storage.

We again express our gratitude to many persons who have worked untiringly to make this home possible, and extend our thanks to Mr. Michael Starvaggi for his generous contribution of $200,000 for the construction of the home. With the help of many, many persons this home has become a reality. Plan now to see it next week-end, June 26 and 27, when the children will be present to take you on guided tours of their home.

Stuart's Bat Leads Phils Over Dodgers; Bucs Lose

SATURDAY, JUNE 19, 1965 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 12

Reds Shade Cubs, Giants Blank Mets

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick (Dr. Strangeglove) Stuart has added a new wrinkle to his act—a strange bat.

His arsenal muffled by the rest of the league, Stuart continued to explode against Los Angeles pitching Friday night as he smashed a homer and a key two-run single while leading Philadelphia to a 4-2 victory over the National League-leading Dodgers.

Stuart, who acquired the Dr. Strangeglove tag because of the way he murders ground balls, may find his bat similarly dubbed if he continues to hammer away at the most formidable pitching staff in the majors while running into considerable difficulty elsewhere.

His latest outburst gave him a .308 average with five homers and 14 runs batted in for 11 games against Dodger pitching. In 42 games against the rest of the league, he has managed only four homers and 18 RBI while hitting a meek .243.

The loss kept the Dodgers from adding to their 3½-game lead over the Milwaukee Braves, who dropped a 5-4 decision to St. Louis on Bill White's 10th inning homer.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati edged the Chicago Cubs 3-1, San Francisco blanked the New York Mets 3-0 and Houston belted Pittsburgh 5-1.

In the American League, the New York Yankees crushed Minnesota 10-2, the Chicago White Sox edged Boston 4-3, Detroit defeated Kansas City 3-1, Cleveland nipped the Los Angeles Angels 3-2 and Washington shut out Baltimore 2-0.

Stuart got the Phillies off to a 1-0 lead with his homer in the second inning off Johnny Podres, then stroked a two-run single in the eighth that built Philadelphia's lead to 4-1 and proved decisive when the Dodgers came back to score a run in their half.

The Phillies had snapped a 1-1 tie in the fifth on Tony Taylor's triple and a two-out bunt single by Richie Allen.

The Cardinals appeared to have it wrapped up against the Braves with a 4-2 lead in the ninth but Mack Jones hit a two-out, two-run homer off rookie Don Dennis, sending the game into extra innings.

Then, in the 10th, White led off with his 10th homer, off reliever Phil Niekro.

Tommy Harper hit a two-run homer in the third inning for the Reds, following a triple by Leo Cardenas, and Vada Pinson doubled in the other Cincinnati run in the sixth inning.

Joey Jay and Bill McCool, meanwhile, held the Cubs to four hits with McCool finishing up with three innings of no-hit, six-strikeout relief work.

Jack Sanford and Frank Linzy also combined talents for a four-hitter for the Giants. Sanford, making his first start since May 29, left for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning after allowing all the Mets' hits.

Willie Mays and Tom Haller supplied San Francisco's runs with homers. Haller hit a solo shot in the second inning and Mays wrapped it up with his 21st homer in the fourth.

The Astros put it out of the Pirates' reach with a four-run fourth inning against Bob Veale after the Pittsburgh starter had retired the first nine Houston batters in order.

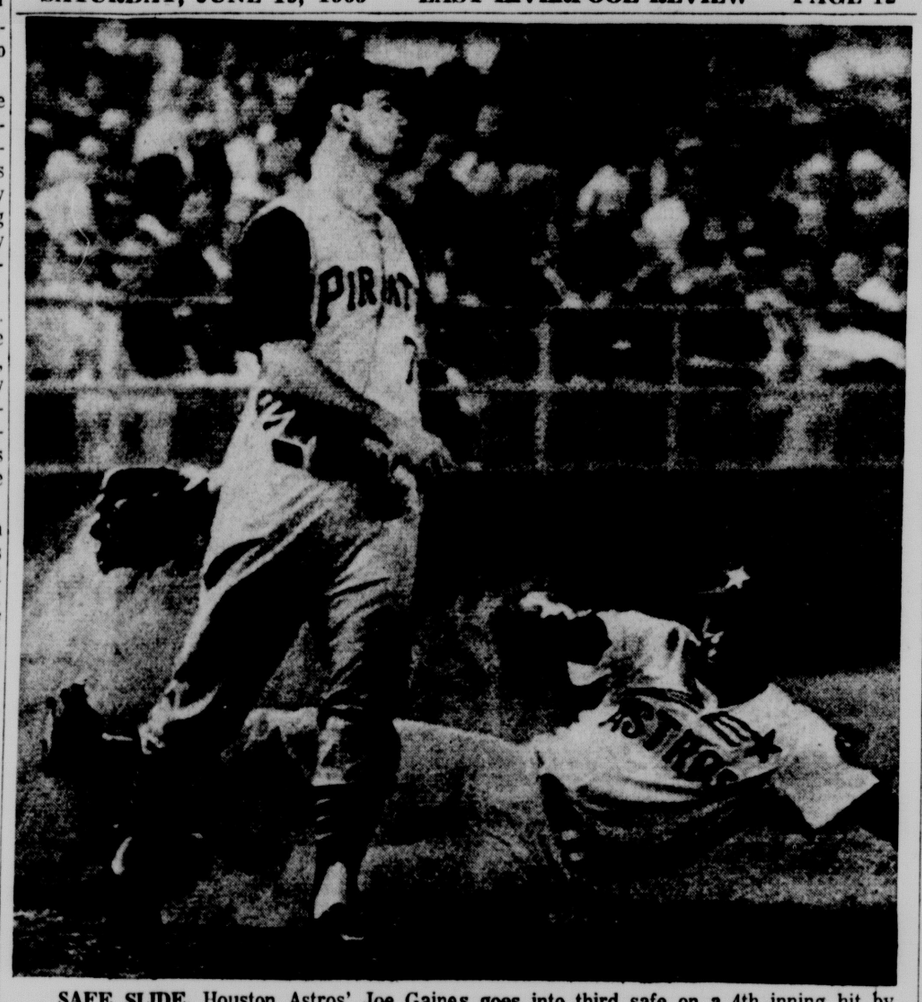

Jim Wynn tripled in two of the runs and scored himself on Bob Aspromonte's single. That proved enough support for Bob Bruce, who lost his shutout bid in the seventh on a single by Gene Alley and Jim Pagliaroni's double.

Jockey Hurt In Fall Off Waterford Mount

Jockey Walter Caudel, leading apprentice rider at Waterford Park with 32 winners, was injured when he fell from Mr. Paragon after the horse had crossed the finish line in the second race.

Mr. Paragon stumbled and Caudel flipped over the horse's head and fell heavily to the track. Fortunately, the gelding was running last at the time and Caudel fell free of the other horses in the race.

Scout Frank (Bots) Nekola, former Holy Cross pitcher, signed three members of this year's Boston Red Sox. They are Carl Yastrzemski, Chuck Schilling and Rico Petrocelli.

SAFE SLIDE. Houston Astros' Joe Gaines goes into third safe on a 4th inning hit by Joe Morgan to center in Friday night's game at Houston against the Pirates. The Pirates' Bob Bailey waits for the throw from Bill Virdon. Astros won, 5-1. (UPI Telephoto)

Pony Games Go To Litten And Burbick

Burbick's humbled Bright's, 17-4, and Litten's defeated Sevy's, 7-2, in Friday's Pony League games.

Burbick's pounded across eight runs in the first inning to clinch the decision early for Berhar. Howell blasted a home run and drove in a total of five runs while Musuraca also walloped a roundtripper to drive in three for the winners in a 14-hit assault on Flanigan and three relievers and Johnson. Johnson suffered the loss. Berhar and Murray each collected three hits while Simms, and Lacy had two. Walker and Smith led Bright's with a pair of safeties.

Litten's, behind Parson who hurled a four-hitter, clinched the victory over Sevy's with three in the third to break a 1-1 tie. Montgomery took the loss for Bright's.

Hancock led the eight-hit Litten attack with a pair of hits. Cornell hit a pair of safeties for Sevy's.

Mantle Raps Grand-Slam In Yanks' Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

As cheerleaders go, Hank Aguirre lacks youth, curves and a short skirt.

When it comes to pitching, though, it's the American League batters who are missing Aguirre's curves.

The Detroit left-hander, whose enthusiasm has earned him the label of team cheerleader, made the Kansas City Athletics his latest victim, stopping them on three hits in the Tigers' 3-1 victory Friday night.

The triumph was Aguirre's eighth against two defeats and tied him with Minnesota's Camilo Pascual as the league's winningest pitchers. The victory also was the Tigers' sixth straight and boosted them to within three games of the first-place Twins.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York bombed the Twins 10-2, Chicago edged Boston 4-3, Cleveland nipped Los Angeles 3-2 and Washington stopped Baltimore's seven-game winning streak 2-0.

In the National League, Philadelphia beat Los Angeles 4-2, St. Louis edged Milwaukee 5-4 in 10 innings, Houston defeated Pittsburg 5-1, San Francisco blanked New York 3-0 and Cincinnati trimmed Chicago 3-1.

Mickey Mantle hit his first grand-slam homer since Aug. 19, 1962, triggering the Yankees to their victory over Minnesota. Mantle connected in the first inning off Mel Nelson. Phil Linz, Roger Maris and Ross Moschitto added homers for New York.

Bill Skowron's home run in the Chicago sixth broke a 3-3 deadlock and sent the Red Sox to their eighth straight loss. Eddie Fisher pitched the final four innings, earning his seventh victory in eight decisions. Bob Tillman smacked a two-run homer for Boston off starter Juan Pizarro.

Cleveland edged Los Angeles on Rocky Colavito's 14th homer in the seventh inning. The Angels had tied the contest 2-2 in the third on pitcher Rudy May's double, singles by Albie Pearson and Jim Fregosi and an infield out.

Pete Richert held Baltimore to four hits in eight innings before leaving for a pinch hitter in the ninth. Washington scored in the second when Don Lock doubled and eventually raced home from third on catcher John Orsino's passed ball.

Scafide's Top Merchants In Softball, 6-1

Scafide's Market snapped Chester Merchants' winning streak, 6-1, Friday night in the Chester Softball League as Howard Wilson limited the heavy-hitting Merchants to three hits.

Peck Glover spoiled Wilson's bid for a shutout when he poled a home run in the last of the seventh. Joe Anderson collected the other two Merchant hits.

Al Dawson and Stillwagon each had a pair of safeties for the winners, with Mike Wilson contributing a double.

Next week's schedule:

Monday — Chester Merchants vs. Gallaghers Market; Tuesday — Scafide's Market vs. Globe Brick; Wednesday — Hancock Savings vs. Gallaghers Market; Thursday — Chester Merchants vs. Globe Brick; Friday—Scafide's Market vs. Hancock Savings & Loan.

Arnie Out With 2nd Straight 76

Player Leads U. S. Open; Palmer Fails To Make Cut

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Gary Player, a muscular little man who wears sombre black clothes and a pixie grin, is closing in on a lifelong ambition — the U.S. Open golf championship.

And he doesn't like it one bit.

"I'm not particularly keen on leading," the chipper little South African said in his broad British accent after his second straight par 70 had put him in front of the pack with a 140 at the tournament halfway point Friday.

"Anyone who says he likes to lead is a fibber. The pressure is all here and there's still a long way to go."

There wasn't anywhere to go but home for Arnold Palmer, the slumping four-time Masters champion who failed to make the Open cut for the first time in eight years.

The crestfallen master declined to come to the press tent after a second straight 76 that gave him 152 and not a birdie in 36 holes.

Jack Nicklaus, the other member of golf's Big Three, came back with a 72 after a dismal 78 first round for 150, just getting under the wire for the cut that trimmed the starting field of 150 to the low 50. It took a score of 150 to make it.

Defending champion Ken Venturi was another casualty. The gritty San Franciscan, playing with an ailing right hand, took a 79 to go with his first round 81 and announced he wouldn't play again until the circulatory disorder is cured.

The sprawling, par 35-35—70, 7,191 - yard Bellerive Country Club course, longest ever for an Open, also whittled down first-round leader Kel Nagle and his 44-year-old legs. Nagle shot a 73 to go with his first round 68 and was tied for second with Mason Rudolph, one stroke back of Player.

One more stroke behind was Deane Beman, a Baltimore insurance executive who is bidding to become the first amateur in 42 years to win the title.

Frank Beard, a half brother of former basketball All-America Ralph, was alone in fifth place at 143. Gene Littler and Raymond Floyd had 144s.

Reds Shade Cubs, Giants Blank Mets

Dick (Dr. Strangeglove) Stuart has added a new wrinkle to his act—a strange bat.

His arsenal muffled by the rest of the league, Stuart continued to explode against Los Angeles pitching Friday night as he smashed a homer and a key two-run single while leading Philadelphia to a 4-2 victory over the National League-leading Dodgers.

Stuart, who acquired the Dr. Strangeglove tag because of the way he murders ground balls, may find his bat similarly dubbed if he continues to hammer away at the most formidable pitching staff in the majors while running into considerable difficulty elsewhere.

His latest outburst gave him a .308 average with five homers and 14 runs batted in for 11 games against Dodger pitching. In 42 games against the rest of the league, he has managed only four homers and 18 RBI while hitting a meek .243.

The loss kept the Dodgers from adding to their 3½-game lead over the Milwaukee Braves, who dropped a 5-4 decision to St. Louis on Bill White's 10th inning homer.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati edged the Chicago Cubs 3-1, San Francisco blanked the New York Mets 3-0 and Houston belted Pittsburgh 5-1.

In the American League, the New York Yankees crushed Minnesota 10-2, the Chicago White Sox edged Boston 4-3, Detroit defeated Kansas City 3-1, Cleveland nipped the Los Angeles Angels 3-2 and Washington shut out Baltimore 2-0.

Stuart got the Phillies off to a 1-0 lead with his homer in the second inning off Johnny Podres, then stroked a two-run single in the eighth that built Philadelphia's lead to 4-1 and proved decisive when the Dodgers came back to score a run in their half.

The Phillies had snapped a 1-1 tie in the fifth on Tony Taylor's triple and a two-out bunt single by Richie Allen.

The Cardinals appeared to have it wrapped up against the Braves with a 4-2 lead in the ninth but Mack Jones hit a two-out, two-run homer off rookie Don Dennis, sending the game into extra innings.

Then, in the 10th, White led off with his 10th homer, off reliever Phil Niekro.

Tommy Harper hit a two-run homer in the third inning for the Reds, following a triple by Leo Cardenas, and Vada Pinson doubled in the other Cincinnati run in the sixth inning.

Joey Jay and Bill McCool, meanwhile, held the Cubs to four hits with McCool finishing up with three innings of no-hit, six-strikeout relief work.

Jack Sanford and Frank Linzy also combined talents for a four-hitter for the Giants. Sanford, making his first start since May 29, left for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning after allowing all the Mets' hits.

Willie Mays and Tom Haller supplied San Francisco's runs with homers. Haller hit a solo shot in the second inning and Mays wrapped it up with his 21st homer in the fourth.

The Astros put it out of the Pirates' reach with a four-run fourth inning against Bob Veale after the Pittsburgh starter had retired the first nine Houston batters in order.

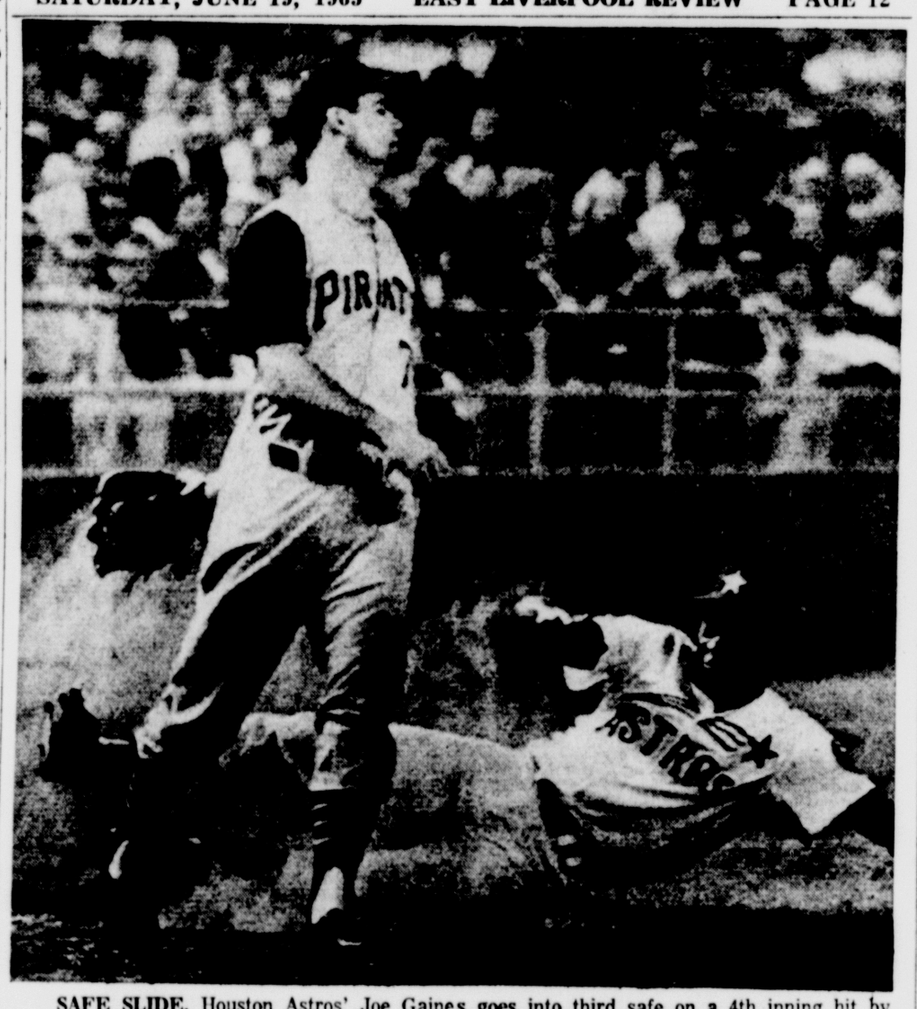

Jim Wynn tripled in two of the runs and scored himself on Bob Aspromonte's single. That proved enough support for Bob Bruce, who lost his shutout bid in the seventh on a single by Gene Alley and Jim Pagliaroni's double.

Jockey Hurt In Fall Off Waterford Mount

Jockey Walter Caudel, leading apprentice rider at Waterford Park with 32 winners, was injured when he fell from Mr. Paragon after the horse had crossed the finish line in the second race.

Mr. Paragon stumbled and Caudel flipped over the horse's head and fell heavily to the track. Fortunately, the gelding was running last at the time and Caudel fell free of the other horses in the race.

Scout Frank (Bots) Nekola, former Holy Cross pitcher, signed three members of this year's Boston Red Sox. They are Carl Yastrzemski, Chuck Schilling and Rico Petrocelli.

SAFE SLIDE. Houston Astros' Joe Gaines goes into third safe on a 4th inning hit by Joe Morgan to center in Friday night's game at Houston against the Pirates. The Pirates' Bob Bailey waits for the throw from Bill Virdon. Astros won, 5-1. (UPI Telephoto)

Pony Games Go To Litten And Burbick

Burbick's humbled Bright's, 17-4, and Litten's defeated Sevy's, 7-2, in Friday's Pony League games.

Burbick's pounded across eight runs in the first inning to clinch the decision early for Berhar. Howell blasted a home run and drove in a total of five runs while Musuraca also walloped a roundtripper to drive in three for the winners in a 14-hit assault on Flanigan and three relievers and Johnson. Johnson suffered the loss. Berhar and Murray each collected three hits while Simms, and Lacy had two. Walker and Smith led Bright's with a pair of safeties.

Litten's, behind Parson who hurled a four-hitter, clinched the victory over Sevy's with three in the third to break a 1-1 tie. Montgomery took the loss for Bright's.

Hancock led the eight-hit Litten attack with a pair of hits. Cornell hit a pair of safeties for Sevy's.

Mantle Raps Grand-Slam In Yanks' Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

As cheerleaders go, Hank Aguirre lacks youth, curves and a short skirt.

When it comes to pitching, though, it's the American League batters who are missing Aguirre's curves.

The Detroit left-hander, whose enthusiasm has earned him the label of team cheerleader, made the Kansas City Athletics his latest victim, stopping them on three hits in the Tigers' 3-1 victory Friday night.

The triumph was Aguirre's eighth against two defeats and tied him with Minnesota's Camilo Pascual as the league's winningest pitchers. The victory also was the Tigers' sixth straight and boosted them to within three games of the first-place Twins.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York bombed the Twins 10-2, Chicago edged Boston 4-3, Cleveland nipped Los Angeles 3-2 and Washington stopped Baltimore's seven-game winning streak 2-0.

In the National League, Philadelphia beat Los Angeles 4-2, St. Louis edged Milwaukee 5-4 in 10 innings, Houston defeated Pittsburg 5-1, San Francisco blanked New York 3-0 and Cincinnati trimmed Chicago 3-1.

Mickey Mantle hit his first grand-slam homer since Aug. 19, 1962, triggering the Yankees to their victory over Minnesota. Mantle connected in the first inning off Mel Nelson. Phil Linz, Roger Maris and Ross Moschitto added homers for New York.

Bill Skowron's home run in the Chicago sixth broke a 3-3 deadlock and sent the Red Sox to their eighth straight loss. Eddie Fisher pitched the final four innings, earning his seventh victory in eight decisions. Bob Tillman smacked a two-run homer for Boston off starter Juan Pizarro.

Cleveland edged Los Angeles on Rocky Colavito's 14th homer in the seventh inning. The Angels had tied the contest 2-2 in the third on pitcher Rudy May's double, singles by Albie Pearson and Jim Fregosi and an infield out.

Pete Richert held Baltimore to four hits in eight innings before leaving for a pinch hitter in the ninth. Washington scored in the second when Don Lock doubled and eventually raced home from third on catcher John Orsino's passed ball.

Scafide's Top Merchants In Softball, 6-1

Scafide's Market snapped Chester Merchants' winning streak, 6-1, Friday night in the Chester Softball League as Howard Wilson limited the heavy-hitting Merchants to three hits.

Peck Glover spoiled Wilson's bid for a shutout when he poled a home run in the last of the seventh. Joe Anderson collected the other two Merchant hits.

Al Dawson and Stillwagon each had a pair of safeties for the winners, with Mike Wilson contributing a double.

Next week's schedule:

Monday — Chester Merchants vs. Gallaghers Market; Tuesday — Scafide's Market vs. Globe Brick; Wednesday — Hancock Savings vs. Gallaghers Market; Thursday — Chester Merchants vs. Globe Brick; Friday—Scafide's Market vs. Hancock Savings & Loan.

Arnie Out With 2nd Straight 76

Player Leads U. S. Open; Palmer Fails To Make Cut

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Gary Player, a muscular little man who wears sombre black clothes and a pixie grin, is closing in on a lifelong ambition — the U.S. Open golf championship.

And he doesn't like it one bit.

"I'm not particularly keen on leading," the chipper little South African said in his broad British accent after his second straight par 70 had put him in front of the pack with a 140 at the tournament halfway point Friday.

"Anyone who says he likes to lead is a fibber. The pressure is all here and there's still a long way to go."

There wasn't anywhere to go but home for Arnold Palmer, the slumping four-time Masters champion who failed to make the Open cut for the first time in eight years.

The crestfallen master declined to come to the press tent after a second straight 76 that gave him 152 and not a birdie in 36 holes.

Jack Nicklaus, the other member of golf's Big Three, came back with a 72 after a dismal 78 first round for 150, just getting under the wire for the cut that trimmed the starting field of 150 to the low 50. It took a score of 150 to make it.

Defending champion Ken Venturi was another casualty. The gritty San Franciscan, playing with an ailing right hand, took a 79 to go with his first round 81 and announced he wouldn't play again until the circulatory disorder is cured.

The sprawling, par 35-35—70, 7,191 - yard Bellerive Country Club course, longest ever for an Open, also whittled down first-round leader Kel Nagle and his 44-year-old legs. Nagle shot a 73 to go with his first round 68 and was tied for second with Mason Rudolph, one stroke back of Player.

One more stroke behind was Deane Beman, a Baltimore insurance executive who is bidding to become the first amateur in 42 years to win the title.

Frank Beard, a half brother of former basketball All-America Ralph, was alone in fifth place at 143. Gene Littler and Raymond Floyd had 144s.

'Once-A-Year' Fishing Thrill

By KEN MCCREARY
For The Associated Press

Ever catch fish so fast and furiously that your arms felt like they would drop off? Such fantastic angling action does happen—and right here in Ohio. The place is Lake Erie and the fish is the white bass.

This fish, known variously as a "white" or "stripe," isn't really big (ranging from one-half to about three pounds) and isn't really a vicious fighter. But he has one big point in his favor—he's mighty plentiful.

The white bass, which looks like a cross between a crappie and a black bass, swims the waters of many Ohio lakes, but in Lake Erie there are times when the population seems unbelievable.

Right now the spring white bass run in Lake Erie is reaching its peak.

Thousands of Buckeye fishermen head for the big lake to take advantage of this "once-a-year" fishing excitement. Since the white bass satisfies his ravenous appetite by feeding on minnows almost exclusively, the rapid-fire action the angler finds when he locates a big school is sheer fishing paradise.

I've seen June days on Lake Erie when a cast that didn't produce at least one fish was considered a really bad one. With the fish hitting so often most fishermen don't worry about using live minnows—that takes too much time. A small spinner seems to be the best lure, although white jigs, flies, wiggling plugs, in fact anything which bears faint resemblance to a live minnow, will put you in the business of catching white bass.

Another highly-favored method of finding Erie's white bass schools during the warm months is to watch for gulls feeding on the minnows which the schools chase to the surface.

Even those fishermen who don't have a boat share the fun and action; white bass feed along rocky shorelines, around docks and pilings.

Where is the best spot on Lake Erie to encounter this fabulous fishing?

Well, everybody has their choice spot, but Division of Wildlife experts say that the Bass Island area rates right at the top, along with the waters of Niagara Reef, around Kelley's Island and other "reefy" areas in western Lake Erie.

One of 17 Lorain residents charged with violating election laws, Andujar claimed he did not know he had to be a registered voter to sign the petition. Judge John D. Pincura accepted the claim and asked the Lorain County Bar Association to start an educational program on election procedures in the predominantly Puerto Rican ward.

Akron Golfer Captures Ohio Seniors Title

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Richard C. Hornberger is the new Ohio Senior golf champion. But the 56-year-old Akronite will have to wait a few days before he gets his silver cup.

Hornberger, a stocky, 5-foot-9 plant worker at Firestone Tire & Rubber, posted a 76 Friday and came from three strokes back to cop the silver anniversary tournament.

His 36-hole score of 155 was two better than the 57 showing by former champion John R. Jacob of Canton.

Hornberger, making his second try in the Seniors, apparently was unhappy with his 76 effort.

"A 155 hasn't got a chance. I can't win with that score," Hornberger said after his round —and headed for his Akron home.

He thus became the first winner in the 25-year history of the tournament who wasn't around at the finish to collect his trophy.

"I guess we'll have to mail him the prize," mused tourney secretary Bill Margraf.

Hornberger's score was five over par on the Scioto Country Club's 6,403-yard layout. His only real trouble came on the 490-yard No. 6 where he triple bogied.

William Bell of Lima finished third with 163 followed by John Watson of Steubenville, 164.

Last year's winner, Henry Ziegenthaler of Dayton, and Thursday's first-round pacesetter, Fred Fleig of Cincinnati, closed in a two-way tie for fifth with 165.

Fleig, secretary of baseball's National League, hit eight traps on his first nine holes and soared to an 89.

Division winners:

Class A, ages 75 and over—Walter Cope, Lima, 176.

Class B, 70-74—Allen Rankin, nine-time seniors winner from Columbus, 174.

Class C, 65-69—Chas Davies, Cincinnati, 176.

Class D, 60-64—Jacob 157.

Class E, 55-59—Hornberger 155.

'More Like It,' Keane Observes After Yanks Win

NEW YORK (AP) — "That's more like it. Now for a few more like this one"

It sounded more like a prayer than a prophecy the way Johnny Keane said it.

Prayer is about the only thing left for the distraught manager of the New York Yankees. He has tried everything else to stir the Yankee hitters. And, until Friday night, nothing helped.

They had dropped four in a row and had scored only three runs in their last 35 innings. Just when it seemed the bottom had dropped out, the Yankees suddenly came to life.

In one inning — the first — they scored six runs, and went on to overwhelm the American League - leading Minnesota Twins 10-2.

Bill Stafford, who hadn't been getting any hitting support to speak of, was the winner. For the first time in weeks, they resembled the old Yankees nine of their runs coming as a result of homers.

Mickey Mantle, slowly emerging from the worst slump of his career, delivered the big one—a grand slam off starter Mel Nelson. It was the eighth bases-loaded homer of Mantle's career but only his first home run since June 5. He has 10 for the season.

The Yankees hit four homers in all. Roger Maris hit his seventh and Phil Linz his second. Even Ross Moschitto, the first year bonus kid, hit one. It was his first in the majors.

Man Killed By Car

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 34-year-old Columbus man was killed Friday when he fell from the back of a slowly moving truck and was hit by a car in an apartment parking lot. The victim was Henry Wilson.

'Once-A-Year' Fishing Thrill

By KEN MCCREARY
For The Associated Press

Ever catch fish so fast and furiously that your arms felt like they would drop off? Such fantastic angling action does happen—and right here in Ohio. The place is Lake Erie and the fish is the white bass.

This fish, known variously as a "white" or "stripe," isn't really big (ranging from one-half to about three pounds) and isn't really a vicious fighter. But he has one big point in his favor—he's mighty plentiful.

The white bass, which looks like a cross between a crappie and a black bass, swims the waters of many Ohio lakes, but in Lake Erie there are times when the population seems unbelievable.

Right now the spring white bass run in Lake Erie is reaching its peak.

Thousands of Buckeye fishermen head for the big lake to take advantage of this "once-a-year" fishing excitement. Since the white bass satisfies his ravenous appetite by feeding on minnows almost exclusively, the rapid-fire action the angler finds when he locates a big school is sheer fishing paradise.

I've seen June days on Lake Erie when a cast that didn't produce at least one fish was considered a really bad one. With the fish hitting so often most fishermen don't worry about using live minnows—that takes too much time. A small spinner seems to be the best lure, although white jigs, flies, wiggling plugs, in fact anything which bears faint resemblance to a live minnow, will put you in the business of catching white bass.

Another highly-favored method of finding Erie's white bass schools during the warm months is to watch for gulls feeding on the minnows which the schools chase to the surface.

Even those fishermen who don't have a boat share the fun and action; white bass feed along rocky shorelines, around docks and pilings.

Where is the best spot on Lake Erie to encounter this fabulous fishing?

Well, everybody has their choice spot, but Division of Wildlife experts say that the Bass Island area rates right at the top, along with the waters of Niagara Reef, around Kelley's Island and other "reefy" areas in western Lake Erie.

Youth Reported Okay With Bullet Removed

CLEVELAND (AP) — David Owens, 14, was reported in good condition today after removal of a .22-caliber bullet from his left cheek Friday at a Parma hospital.

Police questioned three Parma Heights youths in connection with the shooting at a carnival at a Parma shopping center. Owens, working at the carnival, was shot Friday during an argument between a group of youths and carnival officials.

Marcelino (Lefty) Lopez, sensational 21-year-old rookie pitcher with the Los Angeles Angels, was the first American League hurler to win six games this year.

Lorain Man Cleared In Vote Law Violation

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Ivan Andujar, 21, of Lorain was acquitted of election law violation in Lorain County Common Pleas Court Friday. He was charged with illegally signing a nominating petition for Luis A. Velez.

One of 17 Lorain residents charged with violating election laws, Andujar claimed he did not know he had to be a registered voter to sign the petition. Judge John D. Pincura accepted the claim and asked the Lorain County Bar Association to start an educational program on election procedures in the predominantly Puerto Rican ward.

Akron Golfer Captures Ohio Seniors Title

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Richard C. Hornberger is the new Ohio Senior golf champion. But the 56-year-old Akronite will have to wait a few days before he gets his silver cup.

Hornberger, a stocky, 5-foot-9 plant worker at Firestone Tire & Rubber, posted a 76 Friday and came from three strokes back to cop the silver anniversary tournament.

His 36-hole score of 155 was two better than the 57 showing by former champion John R. Jacob of Canton.

Hornberger, making his second try in the Seniors, apparently was unhappy with his 76 effort.

"A 155 hasn't got a chance. I can't win with that score," Hornberger said after his round —and headed for his Akron home.

He thus became the first winner in the 25-year history of the tournament who wasn't around at the finish to collect his trophy.

"I guess we'll have to mail him the prize," mused tourney secretary Bill Margraf.

Hornberger's score was five over par on the Scioto Country Club's 6,403-yard layout. His only real trouble came on the 490-yard No. 6 where he triple bogied.

William Bell of Lima finished third with 163 followed by John Watson of Steubenville, 164.

Last year's winner, Henry Ziegenthaler of Dayton, and Thursday's first-round pacesetter, Fred Fleig of Cincinnati, closed in a two-way tie for fifth with 165.

Fleig, secretary of baseball's National League, hit eight traps on his first nine holes and soared to an 89.

Division winners:

Class A, ages 75 and over—Walter Cope, Lima, 176.

Class B, 70-74—Allen Rankin, nine-time seniors winner from Columbus, 174.

Class C, 65-69—Chas Davies, Cincinnati, 176.

Class D, 60-64—Jacob 157.

Class E, 55-59—Hornberger 155.

'More Like It,' Keane Observes After Yanks Win

NEW YORK (AP) — "That's more like it. Now for a few more like this one."

It sounded more like a prayer than a prophecy the way Johnny Keane said it.

Prayer is about the only thing left for the distraught manager of the New York Yankees. He has tried everything else to stir the Yankee hitters. And, until Friday night, nothing helped.

They had dropped four in a row and had scored only three runs in their last 35 innings. Just when it seemed the bottom had dropped out, the Yankees suddenly came to life.

In one inning — the first — they scored six runs, and went on to overwhelm the American League - leading Minnesota Twins 10-2.

Bill Stafford, who hadn't been getting any hitting support to speak of, was the winner. For the first time in weeks, they resembled the old Yankees nine of their runs coming as a result of homers.

Mickey Mantle, slowly emerging from the worst slump of his career, delivered the big one—a grand slam off starter Mel Nelson. It was the eighth bases-loaded homer of Mantle's career but only his first home run since June 5. He has 10 for the season.

The Yankees hit four homers in all. Roger Maris hit his seventh and Phil Linz his second. Even Ross Moschitto, the first year bonus kid, hit one. It was his first in the majors.

The entire want ad section of this newspaper is at your service. It's yours . . . for news of homes for sale or apartments people have for rent . . . information on the best person to fix your roof or your oil burner. It's yours if you want to hire help or find a job. It's yours if you want to sell used furniture or an automobile. It's yours if you want to buy or sell any items. The Want Ad columns are at your service. Read and use them for profit. To place a Want Ad simply phone 385-4545.

If you are planning to use your Savings to pay for the extra needs . . . perish the thought. Here's an easier way . . . one which thousands have been using lately with good results. You have unused furniture in the attic, a piano or a bedstead, or you have a fur coat or a bicycle which no one is using. Why not sell them and get good hard cash in return? All you do is place an ad with what you have to sell listed under the proper classification. Our Want Ad taker will help you word your ad to appeal to the greatest number of people . . . Then watch the buyers begin to call.

74 WANTED AUTOMOBILES

A A DEALER needs cars and pickups. Must be exceptionally sharp. Will pay cash or if payments too high will trade back to older model — finance balances paid off. "Say," why not trade back to one of the most economical cars in the world for approximately $1 a day. You can trade your big costly operating car for a like new Volkswagen with operating on 1c per mile, 5.3 pints of the best oil, get up to 43.2 miles on regular gas, up to 100,000 miles on your first set of tires. Make us prove it. You eliminate water pump, radiator, anti-freeze, hose, clamps, drive shaft assembly. It's a rear end air cooled engine. You can almost trade year for year for the price of power steering, power brakes, power windows, power seat, and automatic on your big costly operating car. Volkswagen has the lowest depreciation, providing you keep it sharp, highest trade in value. You pay less than $2,000 on some series. You pay less and save 50c out of every $1 when you drive a Volkswagen versus a big costly operating car. Why not join the millions of people who are driving the Volkswagen. There must be a reason. Come in, write, or call and talk to our courteous salesmen. SEE from your locality MR. CHUCK RINESTINE or MR. "SCOTTY" YOUNG. See it — Drive it — and you'll buy it. Beaver Valley Volkswagen, 294 State St., Vanport, Beaver, Pa. Your factory dealer only 20 miles from East Liverpool, Ohio on Pa. Rt. 68. 775-4550.

P. S. PARTS AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY or on tap within 24 hours. STARTING JUNE 20TH Service almost immediately. Call Mr. Charles Coen, you local man from Wellsville and our service manager or Mr. Earl King, parts manager for more information.

74 WANTED AUTOMOBILES

A A DEALER needs cars and pickups. Must be exceptionally sharp. Will pay cash or if payments too high will trade back to older model — finance balances paid off "Say," why not trade back to one of the most economical cars in the world for approximately $1 a day. You can trade your big costly operating car for a like new Volkswagen with operating on 1c per mile, 5.3 pints of the best oil, get up to 43.2 miles on regular gas, up to 100,000 miles on your first set of tires. Make us prove it. You eliminate water pump, radiator, anti-freeze, hose, clamps, drive shaft assembly. It's a rear end air cooled engine. You can almost trade year for year for the price of power steering, power brakes, power windows, power seat, and automatic on your big costly operating car. Volkswagen has the lowest depreciation, providing you keep it sharp, highest trade in value. You pay less than $2,000 on some series. You pay less and save 50c out of every $1 when you drive a Volkswagen versus a big costly operating car. Why not join the millions of people who are driving the Volkswagen. There must be a reason. Come in, write, or call and talk to our courteous salesmen. SEE from your locality MR. CHUCK RINESTINE or MR. "SCOTTY" YOUNG. See it — Drive it — and you'll buy it. Beaver Valley Volkswagen, 294 State St., Vanport, Beaver, Pa. Your factory dealer only 20 miles from East Liverpool, Ohio on Pa. Rt. 68. 775-4550.

P. S. PARTS AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY or on tap within 24 hours. STARTING JUNE 20TH Service almost immediately. Call Mr. Charles Coen, you local man from Wellsville and our service manager or Mr. Earl King, parts manager for more information.

A Junior Editors Quiz About COWS

QUESTION: How can cows eat with only a bottom set of teeth?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Her majesty the cow, to whom our artist has given a crown in recognition of the immense value of her dairy products to us, does not need two sets of teeth, for she does not have to tear or break hard things into pieces. Cows, along with goats, deer and sheep, are ruminants, having a remarkable digestive system with four stomachs. Ruminants grab bites of grass and swallow them with little chewing. The food goes into stomach No. 1, the rumen, where bacteria begin to break down the hard cellulose walls of the plants. Next, the food goes to the reticulum, stomach No. 2, where it is turned into balls called cuds. Now the ruminant lies down in some sheltered spot, where in a wild state it would be protected from enemies. Here the cuds are passed up into the mouth to be thoroughly chewed. The cuds have been softened enough so that they can be further broken down as the lower molar teeth revolve against the hard gum above in a grinding action. Then the softened food passes through the two other stomachs, the omasum (3) and the abomasum (4) and finally into the intestines, where it is digested and passed into the blood stream to furnish nourishment for the animal.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Make an experiment at your next meal. Instead of swallowing everything down in a great hurry, try a bit or two where you "ruminate—" that is, chew slowly. Think of the taste of what you're eating. You will enjoy it a lot more.

Rebuttal Due Monday In Maloney Case

PITTSBURGH—Rebuttal testimony is scheduled to be heard Monday in the Federal Court trial of Lawrence J. Maloney, suspended assistant superintendent of Pittsburgh police being tried on charges of income tax evasion.

The defense rested Friday after hearing Mrs. Maloney testify in cross-examination that her husband won $7,700 shooting craps at the Stardust in Las Vegas in 1959.

After closing arguments Monday and a charge of Federal Judge Herbert P. Sorg, the case will go to the jury.

Mrs. Maloney said she frequently accompanied her husband to race tracks and that as a bettor he had "the luck of the Irish."

Her testimony was offered in corroboration of Maloney's testimony that, from 1958 to 1962, he accumulated $44,875 in winnings at race tracks and gaming tables, a figure exceeding his total police salaries for those years of $40,945.

The government claims Maloney failed to report about $250,000 in income from 1958 through 1963 and that he owes about $114,000. It presented five witnesses who testified they paid bribes to Maloney for racket protection from 1958 through 1963.

Village Spared When Fishermen Spot Dam Break

MUNCY VALLEY, Pa. (AP) —As fishermen trolled the placid waters of Hunter's Lake around 10 o'clock, one of them spotted an angry whirlpool.

It could mean only one thing. A rupture in the old stone, rock-cribbed dam.

A collapse of the dam could send 166 million gallons of water surging into the valley below. As State Police Sgt. John R. Cummings of Dushore put it:

"The community of Muncy Valley (pop. 160) would have been washed off the map."

The village is a mile or so below the dam in the thinly-populated mid-state county of Sullivan.

When it was all over yesterday, the hole in the dam fully sealed with sand bags and residents no longer fearful for their lives, Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, state secretary of forests and waters, could say:

"It was the greatest piece of cooperation I have ever seen. The residents were magnificent, too. Nobody panicked. They just did what had to be done."

The fishermen spread the alarm. Investigators who were first to reach the dam found a hole six to eight feet wide in the structure.

After the break was plugged, they started draining the dam. This is a controlled process through a two-foot drainage pipe. It may take a week.

Goddard said efforts to determine the cause of the break would be started as soon as the 100-acre lake has been drained. He considered it a strong likelihood that the dam would have to be rebuilt.

Goldwater Claims Bliss Wrong On 'New Society'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater said today that GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss is "just mistaken" if he believes the fledgling Free Society Association will be harmful to the Republican Party.

Goldwater, the 1964 GOP presidential nominee, said the new society, of which he will be honorary head, will have no political relationship to the national party, will not seek out candidates for office of determine policy.

"The society's aim will be to clean up all of the fuzziness about the word 'conservative'," Goldwater said in an interview. "It will try to tell the people what's going on today with the Johnson administration in power."

Goldwater took direct issue with a statement of Bliss at the news conference Friday that as a "splinter group" the Free Society Association would be "harmful to the Republican Party." The conference was called to announce the appointment of Gen. Lucius D. Clay as new GOP finance chairman.

"Whenever you have splinter groups, they do not assist in uniting us," Bliss said. "We should present a united front to the opposition. If you believe in a free society, what better way to maintain it than through a strong, two-party system?"

Bliss, who noted that Goldwater was one of those who asked him to take on the national chairmanship, said he has to take Goldwater's word that the new organization will not point toward a third party. He added that he was hopeful Goldwater "will continue to support the Republican Party."

Goldwater has specifically disclaimed any idea of forming a third party.

Clay, who said he is proud to be designated an Eisenhower Republican, said he hopes to coordinate Republican fund - raising through his office. Asked if he was having any luck picking up left-over 1964 campaign money from various pro-Goldwater organizations, he replied that "my efforts have neither been denied or the money made available."

He said he had been asked to become a trustee of the Free Society Association but had turned down the offer because he was accepting the party finance chairmanship and did not believe anyone in that position should be connected with other organizations.

In response to questions, Clay said the Republican budget for this year is $4.6 million. But Bliss noted that Senate and House campaign committees have raised their own funds and thus the amount yet to be obtained is much smaller.

Clay said his best argument in getting donations is that the country needs a strong two-party system and the Republicans have to have funds to make a comeback.

Nickel May Play Key Role At Cash Register

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lowly nickel may play a key role at the cash register next year during the transition to silverless coins.

Some administration officials are concerned about public acceptance of coins made of cheaper metal, regardless of their shiny appearance — although they are reluctant to admit it.

"There are bound to be some rough spots in a change of this magnitude," a Treasury official said today. He quickly added that he was optimistic about the public's attitude.

The nickel frequently is cited as a shiny example.

The silver was taken out of it years ago but hard-headed businessmen and thrifty housewives still have a full five cents worth of faith in it.

Congress is expected to approve the administration's program for eliminating silver from dimes and quarters because of a potential world shortage of the metal. The only major point in doubt is whether the silver content of the half-dollar will be reduced from 90 to 40 per cent or to zero.

The value of the metal in a quarter will be reduced from about 23 cents to 1.5 cents; for the dime, the reduction will be from about 9 cents to half a cent.

Coins have been in short supply for several years and the situation could be aggravated if speculators decided to hoard the silver coins.

There will be no incentive to speculators to nurse nickels. Also, two nickels can readily be substituted for a dime in most situations, and, in a pinch, they can be used in place of coins of higher denominations.

The mint is turning out 200 million nickels a month to make sure there will be plenty of them on hand when the other new coins are introduced next year.

There are now some 268 million nickels in the government's inventory compared to only 21 million a year ago.

Production facilities formerly used to mint pennies have been used to turn out nickels since pressure on the penny has been eased. The inventory of pennies numbers 814 million compared to only 65 million 12 months ago.

Production of the silverless quarter will begin in the fall and a huge number — perhaps 100 million — will be turned out before they are released in early 1966.

Merchants can make change if they have enough pennies, nickels and quarters even if there is a short supply of dimes and half-dollars.

Padlock Law Threat Posted On Pool Room

Steps will be taken under state law to padlock the American Pool Room as a "public nuisance" if there's another instance of permitting minors to loiter on the premises, Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin declared Friday at Lisbon after fining an employe for the second such offense in three weeks.

Pete Cazana of Pennsylvania Ave., identified as the operator of the pool room, was fined $50 and costs by Tobin after pleading guilty to a charge that he permitted three boys — two 17 and one 16—to loiter on the premises on June 11. Cazana was cited by Patrolman William A. Devon.

The judge imposed the penalty after Gus Dauka, 1852 Smithfield St., identified as the owner of the business, advised the court that Cazana no longer was employed there, effective Friday.

Tobin told Dauka to notify the East Liverpool police department of the name of the new operator and added that if the pool room is cited again for the same offense Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis will be asked to institute padlock proceedings against it in Common Pleas Court.

The judge said that Cazana will be permitted in the lunchroom section of the business place, but cannot enter the section housing the billiard tables.

Cazana first was cited on May 21, also by Devon, on a charge that he permitted three 17-year-old boys to frequent the place. His hearing was held on June 4.

In the first hearing Cazana was fined $100 and costs and given a suspended 30-day jail term.

Rebuttal Due Monday In Maloney Case

PITTSBURGH—Rebuttal testimony is scheduled to be heard Monday in the Federal Court trial of Lawrence J. Maloney, suspended assistant superintendent of Pittsburgh police being tried on charges of income tax evasion.

The defense rested Friday after hearing Mrs. Maloney testify in cross-examination that her husband won $7,700 shooting craps at the Stardust in Las Vegas in 1959.

After closing arguments Monday and a charge of Federal Judge Herbert P. Sorg, the case will go to the jury.

Mrs. Maloney said she frequently accompanied her husband to race tracks and that as a bettor he had "the luck of the Irish."

Her testimony was offered in corroboration of Maloney's testimony that, from 1958 to 1962, he accumulated $44,875 in winnings at race tracks and gaming tables, a figure exceeding his total police salaries for those years of $40,945.

The government claims Maloney failed to report about $250,000 in income from 1958 through 1963 and that he owes about $114,000. It presented five witnesses who testified they paid bribes to Maloney for racket protection from 1958 through 1963.

Village Spared When Fishermen Spot Dam Break

MUNCY VALLEY, Pa. (AP) —As fishermen trolled the placid waters of Hunter's Lake around 10 o'clock, one of them spotted an angry whirlpool.

It could mean only one thing. A rupture in the old stone, rock-cribbed dam.

A collapse of the dam could send 166 million gallons of water surging into the valley below. As State Police Sgt. John R. Cummings of Dushore put it:

"The community of Muncy Valley (pop. 160) would have been washed off the map."

The village is a mile or so below the dam in the thinly-populated mid-state county of Sullivan.

When it was all over yesterday, the hole in the dam fully sealed with sand bags and residents no longer fearful for their lives, Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, state secretary of forests and waters, could say:

"It was the greatest piece of cooperation I have ever seen. The residents were magnificent, too. Nobody panicked. They just did what had to be done."

The fishermen spread the alarm. Investigators who were first to reach the dam found a hole six to eight feet wide in the structure.

After the break was plugged, they started draining the dam. This is a controlled process through a two-foot drainage pipe. It may take a week.

Goddard said efforts to determine the cause of the break would be started as soon as the 100-acre lake has been drained. He considered it a strong likelihood that the dam would have to be rebuilt.

Goldwater Claims Bliss Wrong On 'New Society'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater said today that GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss is "just mistaken" if he believes the fledgling Free Society Association will be harmful to the Republican Party.

Goldwater, the 1964 GOP presidential nominee, said the new society, of which he will be honorary head, will have no political relationship to the national party, will not seek out candidates for office of determine policy.

"The society's aim will be to clean up all of the fuzziness about the word 'conservative'," Goldwater said in an interview. "It will try to tell the people what's going on today with the Johnson administration in power."

Goldwater took direct issue with a statement of Bliss at the news conference Friday that as a "splinter group" the Free Society Association would be "harmful to the Republican Party." The conference was called to announce the appointment of Gen. Lucius D. Clay as new GOP finance chairman.

"Whenever you have splinter groups, they do not assist in uniting us," Bliss said. "We should present a united front to the opposition. If you believe in a free society, what better way to maintain it than through a strong, two-party system?"

Bliss, who noted that Goldwater was one of those who asked him to take on the national chairmanship, said he has to take Goldwater's word that the new organization will not point toward a third party. He added that he was hopeful Goldwater "will continue to support the Republican Party."

Goldwater has specifically disclaimed any idea of forming a third party.

Clay, who said he is proud to be designated an Eisenhower Republican, said he hopes to coordinate Republican fund - raising through his office. Asked if he was having any luck picking up left-over 1964 campaign money from various pro-Goldwater organizations, he replied that "my efforts have neither been denied or the money made available."

He said he had been asked to become a trustee of the Free Society Association but had turned down the offer because he was accepting the party finance chairmanship and did not believe anyone in that position should be connected with other organizations.

In response to questions, Clay said the Republican budget for this year is $4.6 million. But Bliss noted that Senate and House campaign committees have raised their own funds and thus the amount yet to be obtained is much smaller.

Clay said his best argument in getting donations is that the country needs a strong two-party system and the Republicans have to have funds to make a comeback.

Nickel May Play Key Role At Cash Register

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lowly nickel may play a key role at the cash register next year during the transition to silverless coins.

Some administration officials are concerned about public acceptance of coins made of cheaper metal, regardless of their shiny appearance — although they are reluctant to admit it.

"There are bound to be some rough spots in a change of this magnitude," a Treasury official said today. He quickly added that he was optimistic about the public's attitude.

The nickel frequently is cited as a shiny example.

The silver was taken out of it years ago but hard-headed businessmen and thrifty housewives still have a full five cents worth of faith in it.

Congress is expected to approve the administration's program for eliminating silver from dimes and quarters because of a potential world shortage of the metal. The only major point in doubt is whether the silver content of the half-dollar will be reduced from 90 to 40 per cent or to zero.

The value of the metal in a quarter will be reduced from about 23 cents to 1.5 cents; for the dime, the reduction will be from about 9 cents to half a cent.

Coins have been in short supply for several years and the situation could be aggravated if speculators decided to hoard the silver coins.

There will be no incentive to speculators to nurse nickels. Also, two nickels can readily be substituted for a dime in most situations, and, in a pinch, they can be used in place of coins of higher denominations.

The mint is turning out 200 million nickels a month to make sure there will be plenty of them on hand when the other new coins are introduced next year.

There are now some 268 million nickels in the government's inventory compared to only 21 million a year ago.

Production facilities formerly used to mint pennies have been used to turn out nickels since pressure on the penny has been eased. The inventory of pennies numbers 814 million compared to only 65 million 12 months ago.

Production of the silverless quarter will begin in the fall and a huge number — perhaps 100 million — will be turned out before they are released in early 1966.

Merchants can make change if they have enough pennies, nickels and quarters even if there is a short supply of dimes and half-dollars.

Padlock Law Threat Posted On Pool Room

Steps will be taken under state law to padlock the American Pool Room as a "public nuisance" if there's another instance of permitting minors to loiter on the premises, Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin declared Friday at Lisbon after fining an employe for the second such offense in three weeks.

Pete Cazana of Pennsylvania Ave., identified as the operator of the pool room, was fined $50 and costs by Tobin after pleading guilty to a charge that he permitted three boys — two 17 and one 16—to loiter on the premises on June 11. Cazana was cited by Patrolman William A. Devon.

The judge imposed the penalty after Gus Dauka, 1852 Smithfield St., identified as the owner of the business, advised the court that Cazana no longer was employed there, effective Friday.

Tobin told Dauka to notify the East Liverpool police department of the name of the new operator and added that if the pool room is cited again for the same offense Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis will be asked to institute padlock proceedings against it in Common Pleas Court.

The judge said that Cazana will be permitted in the lunchroom section of the business place, but cannot enter the section housing the billiard tables.

Cazana first was cited on May 21, also by Devon, on a charge that he permitted three 17-year-old boys to frequent the place. His hearing was held on June 4.

In the first hearing Cazana was fined $100 and costs and given a suspended 30-day jail term.
